As Convention Rolls Along

Scranton Keeps On Trying, But Goldwater Lead Grows

Goldwater Will Get 42 Ohio Votes

13 Wish To Stick With Gov. Rhodes On First Ballot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ohio delegates to the Republican National Convention relaxed today, their hour of decision behind.

Little was left for them to do after their crucial decision to break away from the favorite-son candidacy of Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes and throw the bulk of their strength to Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona.

Forty - two of the Buckeye State's 58 first-ballot votes will be fired off in Goldwater's direction. That is about double the number that earlier polls of the delegation had shown for the convention front-runner.

Former U. S. Sen. John W. Bricker, chairman of the Ohio delegation, said a secret ballot of the group showed 13 who wished to stick with the favorite-son candidacy of Rhodes, at least on the first convention ballot Wednesday.

The strength of Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton dropped off to two votes in the Ohio delegation in the two-hour caucus. At one point, 10 votes had been tallied for him in a pre-convention poll by The Associated Press.

Rep. Frances P. Bolton, Ohio's only congresswoman, said she will give at least one convention vote to the GOP's first feminine presidential candidate, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

In fact, Mrs. Bolton promised she would make a seconding speech for Mrs. Smith's nomination. The Maine senator noted that "Frances and I started our careers in Congress almost at the same time."

Few of the delegates sticking with Rhodes wished to state their positions publicly for the moment, simply because their stand is plainly anti-Goldwater.

There was the possibility that a few of the Rhodes-oriented holdouts would swing to Goldwater by the time of the first ballot.

Governor Aides Test Platform In Last-Gasp Bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater's juggernaut rolled on in high gear today, fueled by an expanding lineup of first-ballot presidental nominating votes as it headed for a Republican convention platform test.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's forces give the withering stop-Goldwater movement a last college try today with presentation of three amendments to the program the Arizonia senator has endorsed as satisfactory.

Having failed to shake the Goldwater control of the proceedings, Scranton backers came up with a surprise maneuver. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts revealed they had called on former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter to offer their version of a nuclear arms control amendment.

This proposal was aimed at Goldwater's statement that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander should have greater supervision over small, tactical nuclear weapons.

It proposed to put the party on record as reaffirming "the historical constitutional precept of civilian control over the military." It went on to say that "the authority to use America's nuclear weapons belongs only to the President of the United States."

An agreement was reached by convention officials to spend an hour on this and a proposed change in the civil rights plank approved by the Goldwater-dominated platform committee.

But Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, a Scranton backer, thought so little of the prospects of success that he asked for only 10 minutes to offer a proposal to denounce "extremists."

The expected platform battle seemed likely to provide about the last gasp of the Scranton effort to head off Goldwater. The Arizona senator claimed 800 votes for a first-ballot nomination Wednesday. He needs only 655.

Text of the controversial Scranton letter to Sen. Goldwater appears on Page 2.

The latest Associated Press compilation credits him with 781, if they stick with him, including 42 he gobbled up Monday when Ohio delegates were released by Gov. James A. Rhodes to vote for the man of their choice on the initial ballot.

If there was any chance that Goldwater might ask Scranton to share the ticket with him, it apparently disappeared finally when the Pennsylvania governor said Monday night that he did not write a bitterly critical letter forwarded under his signature to Goldwater Sunday night. But Scranton assumed the responsibility for it.

John Conmy, a Scranton press aide, said the governor had not seen the letter before it went to Goldwater and had not ordered it sent to the senator. He did not volunteer the names of those who were responsible.

Scranton said that some of the letter's acrid language attacking "Goldwaterism" was "too strong." But he said he still thinks the issues with which it dealt are important.

It was generally understood in the Goldwater camp that his choice for his vice presidential

Nixon Plans Peacemaker Role For GOP

Expected To Make Appeal For Unity In Convention Talk

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard M. Nixon arrives today at the Republican National Convention in the role of a peacemaker.

Nixon, the party's presidential nominee four years ago, is expected to appeal for unity when he addresses the convention Thursday night after the standard bearer is selected.

The former vice president has been practicing law in New York City since Californians rejected his bid for governor in 1962.

Accompanied by his wife, Pat, he lands at San Francisco International Airport and then quickly begins a round of political talks.

First, there is a luncheon given by an old friend, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the permanent convention chairman, for George Murphy, the former actor who is running for the U.S. Senate in California.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower indicated he will be at the luncheon "if possible," Morton's office said. Morton's aides said Sen. Barry Goldwater had accepted for sure.

After lunch, Nixon's staff said he'd be talking politics— but it wasn't certain with whom he would be conferring.

Wednesday, Nixon and his wife will hold a reception at a downtown hotel—to get together, an aide said, "with the people with whom he has worked in the party for the past 20 years."

Thursday will be Nixon's big night—a speech to the convention after it has picked its presidential nominee. He is expected to urge the feuding factions to pull together.

3 Yanks Killed In Viet Ambush

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Three more U.S. Army officers—a major and two captains—and 16 Vietnamese Rangers were killed Monday in a Communist ambush on a highway notorious for such attacks.

A U.S. enlisted man and 21 government troops were wounded in the rain of heavy-weapons fire that the Viet Cong guerrillas poured into the 16-vehicle convoy 45 miles north of Saigon.

The ambush occurred on bloody Route 13, which connects Saigon with the Cambodian border 80 miles to the north. Five other Americans have been killed in ambushes on the road in the past two years.

The deaths Monday brought the total of U.S. military men killed in action in South Viet Nam since December 1961 to 157. Another 983 Americans have been wounded in action.

The names of the latest American dead were withheld in Saigon, but in Washington the Army announced the deaths in Viet Nam of Maj. Joseph W. Burkett, Stephenville, Tex.; Capt. Billy T. Hatfield, Fayetteville, N.C., and Capt. Richard M. Sroka, Pueblo, Colo.

A U.S. spokesman said the convoy was passing through rolling, lightly jungled terrain on a routine mission when it was stopped by road mines.

Volleys of fire poured into the seven trucks, four armored cars, and five jeeps. Most of the casualties occurred in the first few minutes of the ambush, U.S. sources said.

The firefight lasted about an hour, the American spokesman said. Then the Communists slipped back into the jungle.

Ranger troops and fighter-bombers were sent to the area but made no contact with the attackers.

American sources said the major who was killed was the senior military adviser in Binh Long Province and the two captains were the intelligence officer for the province and a Ranger adviser to the Vietnamese army's 34th Battalion.

Court Orders Wallace Not To Hold Up Integration

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A three-judge federal panel has ordered Gov. George C. Wallace and the State Board of Education to cease interfering with school desegregation.

The order Monday noticeably did not order statewide integration. Instead, it:

—Prevents Wallace, State School Supt. Austin Meadows and other members of the State Board of Education from interfering with any desegregation order a federal court might hand down.

—Orders the Macon (Tuskegee) County School Board to desegregate immediately all four high school grades from the 9th to the 12th and at least one elementary grade in every school.

—Reprimands the State Board of Education for "failing, in the exercise of its control and supervision over the public schools of this state, to use such control and supervision... to promote and encourage the elimination of racial discrimination."

—Prevents the state from using public funds to support private, segregated schools.

However, the injunction did not:

—Order statewide desegregation of schools.

—Prohibit state authorities from continuing to allocate funds for segregated schools.

—Rule Alabama's pupil placement law unconstitutional.

The three judges—Richard Rives of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and District Court Judges H. H. Grooms of Birmingham and Frank M. Johnson of Montgomery—made it clear that they will retain jurisdiction and may take further action "if such interference... continues or occurs in the future —either directly or indirectly— through the use of subtle coercion or outright interference when the local school authorities are attempting to comply with the desegregation orders of a federal court."

Preliminary Work Set For St. Clair Project

Some preliminary work on the St. Clair Ave. project will be started Wednesday, but actual construction won't get under way until Monday, William Herman of Herman Brothers, Inc., of Youngstown, general contractor, said today.

Barricades will be set up and some 150 large trees will be marked for cutting, Herman said.

The Youngstown firm received the contract on its bid of $785,788 for construction of a 36-foot concrete pavement between Princeton Ave. and the north city limits, along with a complete storm drainage system. The overall cost, including right-of-way and other charges, is estimated at $848,000.

1965 County Fiscal Needs Gain $42,955

LISBON — Budget requests filed with commissioners show Columbiana County's 18 departments and governmental agencies are asking $1,076,264 in general funds for 1965, an increase of $42,955 over the amounts they were granted for 1964.

County commissioners, acting under state law, asked each office for a 1965 budget, setting the deadline July 1. But several departments have not furnished figures, so the appropriations for the current year were used tentatively.

The County Budget Commission will go over the requests after Auditor Kenneth Bell has furnished a certificate of estimated income for 1965.

Nine departments and offices asked for more funds in 1965. The figures of three agencies were unchanged from this year's appropriations, one was less and five failed to file 1965 requests.

Levies help support the County Home, Welfare Department, tuberculosis care and the retarded children's program. Commissioners did not receive fund requests for the four, but will allocate some general fund money to them.

Mikoyan Due Presidency Of Soviet Union

Deputy Premier To Replace Brezhnev, Report Indicates

CAIRO (AP)—Leonid Brezhnev will be replaced as president of the Soviet Union in a few days by First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, an informant with excellent contacts in the Soviet Union reported today.

The source, who refused to be quoted by name, said Brezhnev would remain a member of the Soviet Communist party's 12-man ruling Presidium.

The elevation of oldtime Communist Mikoyan will be announced at the current session of the Supreme Soviet—the Soviet parliament—which began Monday, the source said.

He added that Brezhnev's replacement will begin a shakeup which will continue through the fall and which will include the promotion of Alexei Adzhubei, Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law, to be foreign minister.

Adzhubei is editor of Izvestia, the government newspaper, but has conferred with leaders of many of the world's governments during travels abroad. Veteran diplomat Andrei Gromyko is foreign minister.

In Moscow, rumors of an impending government reshuffle circulated Monday night among resident Western diplomats and correspondents. Neither confirmation nor denial of the reports were forthcoming from Soviet sources.

The source here said Mikoyan, a contemporary of Premier Khrushchev, 70, may owe his promotion to his age—68—and to his attitude toward the Chinese Communist party.

United Local To Seek $630,000 Bond Issue

United Local School District near Hanoverton has certified a $630,000 bond issue to the County Election Board for a ballot place at the Nov. 3 general election.

The resolution specifies the proceeds from the bond issue will be used to construct and equip an addition to the high school, after existing facilities and construct an addition to house school buses, Frank R. O'Hanlon, Election Board Clerk, said.

A 3.46-mill levy will be needed to retire the bonds over a 23-year period, County Auditor Kenneth Bell estimated. It is the fourth special question and issue to be filed so far for a fall vote, O'Hanlon said.

Work Starts As Ohio Road Strike Ends

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Work resumed today on Ohio's $500 million worth of highway construction projects, with little or no effect evident from a three day strike by the Operating Engineers Union.

The dispute with the Ohio Contractors Association ended Monday with the union taking back an approved contract for secret ballot vote by its 14,000 members. First indications were that the pact will be ratified.

Monday night, Frank Converse, business manager of the union's 3,500-member Local 18, said engineers in the Cleveland area seemed to favor the contract.

About 1,500 were at the meeting.

The contract is the second approved by negotiators. An earlier proposal was rejected by a vote of 218-174. The contractors contended the vote was not representative and sought a re-vote.

When the issue became bogged down the engineers went on strike Friday night. Because Saturday and Sunday were days off and a Sunday rain made work on most projects impossible Monday, the walkout never was felt fully.

Wellsville Mishap Injures Pedestrian

A 38-year-old Lisbon area man is in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when struck by a truck while crossing a Wellsville intersection Monday about 4:50 p. m.

Police said Mick was hit while at 13th and Main Sts. by a truck driven by Glenn A. Moran, 25, of 805 Alton St., driver for the Jewell Tea Co.

Witnesses told police Mick started across the street without looking in either direction.

Mick apparently crossed behind a truck moving in the direction opposite from Moran's truck.

Moran said he was traveling between 20 and 25 miles an hour.

Moran was injured in a collision Wednesday on Route 39 near Wellsville. He was found lying near his truck by a passing motorist after the mishap.

A 19 - year - old Maplewood youth is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries received when his truck and a station wagon collided late Monday afternoon at E. 3rd St. and Broadway in which two Pennsylvanians also were hurt.

It was the second mishap at the intersection within six hours yesterday, police said.

Treated and released at the hospital were Richard Bailey, 32, of McDonald, Pa., driver of the station wagon, and his passenger, Julius Finley, 30, of Westland, Pa.

The hospital said Bailey was treated for a bruise of the left temple, probable whiplash injury of the neck and abrasions of the knees while Finley suffered a possible neck injury and bruises of the right elbow and right knee.

Smith told officers he didn't know what happened. Bailey said he was headed west on E. 3rd St. and a car ahead of him made a right turn up Broadway.

The Pennsylvanian said he continued through the intersection when Smith made a left turn in front of him. Bailey told officers he applied his brakes but was unable to stop in time to avoid a crash. The mishap was timed at 5:23 p. m.

George Miller, 45, of Kelly Ave., reported to police at 6:02 p. m. the undercarriage of his car was damaged when he struck a chuckhole along the edge of the northbound lane of the freeway, just south of the Dresden Ave. intersection.

Governor Aides Test Platform In Last-Gasp Bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater's juggernaut rolled on in high gear today, fueled by an expanding lineup of first-ballot presidental nominating votes as it headed for a Republican convention platform test.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's forces give the withering stop-Goldwater movement a last college try today with presentation of three amendments to the program the Arizonia senator has endorsed as satisfactory.

Having failed to shake the Goldwater control of the proceedings, Scranton backers came up with a surprise maneuver. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts revealed they had called on former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter to offer their version of a nuclear arms control amendment.

This proposal was aimed at Goldwater's statement that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander should have greater supervision over small, tactical nuclear weapons.

It proposed to put the party on record as reaffirming "the historical constitutional precept of civilian control over the military." It went on to say that "the authority to use America's nuclear weapons belongs only to the President of the United States."

An agreement was reached by convention officials to spend an hour on this and a proposed change in the civil rights plank approved by the Goldwater-dominated platform committee.

But Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, a Scranton backer, thought so little of the prospects of success that he asked for only 10 minutes to offer a proposal to denounce "extremists."

The expected platform battle seemed likely to provide about the last gasp of the Scranton effort to head off Goldwater. The Text of the controversial Scranton letter to Sen. Goldwater appears on Page 2.

Arizona senator claimed 800 votes for a first-ballot nomination Wednesday. He needs only 655.

The latest Associated Press compilation credits him with 781, if they stick with him, including 42 he gobbled up Monday when Ohio delegates were released by Gov. James A. Rhodes to vote for the man of their choice on the initial ballot.

If there was any chance that Goldwater might ask Scranton to share the ticket with him, it apparently disappeared finally when the Pennsylvania governor said Monday night that he did not write a bitterly critical letter forwarded under his signature to Goldwater Sunday night. But Scranton assumed the responsibility for it.

John Conmy, a Scranton press aide, said the governor had not seen the letter before it went to Goldwater and had not ordered it sent to the senator. He did not volunteer the names of those who were responsible.

Scranton said that some of the letter's acrid language attacking "Goldwaterism" was "too strong." But he said he still thinks the issues with which it dealt are important.

It was generally understood in the Goldwater camp that his choice for his vice presidential

New Contract And Increase Given Myers

A salary increase of $1,100 and a new five-year contract were granted Supt. Lowell Myers by the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night.

Under the new arrangement, Myers' salary will be based on a per centage of the highest rating in the teacher scale.

He was hired in 1962 in a three-year contract. The old contract, which still had a year to run, was terminated and the new five - year contract was granted under the new terms.

Nixon Plans Peacemaker Role For GOP

Expected To Make Appeal For Unity In Convention Talk

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard M. Nixon arrives today at the Republican National Convention in the role of a peacemaker.

Nixon, the party's presidential nominee four years ago, is expected to appeal for unity when he addresses the convention Thursday night after the standard bearer is selected.

The former vice president has been practicing law in New York City since Californians rejected his bid for governor in 1962.

Accompanied by his wife, Pat, he lands at San Francisco International Airport and then quickly begins a round of political talks.

First, there is a luncheon given by an old friend, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the permanent convention chairman, for George Murphy, the former actor who is running for the U.S. Senate in California.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower indicated he will be at the luncheon "if possible," Morton's office said. Morton's aides said Sen. Barry Goldwater had accepted for sure.

After lunch, Nixon's staff said he'd be talking politics— but it wasn't certain with whom he would be conferring.

Wednesday, Nixon and his wife will hold a reception at a downtown hotel—to get together, an aide said, "with the people with whom he has worked in the party for the past 20 years."

Thursday will be Nixon's big night—a speech to the convention after it has picked its presidential nominee. He is expected to urge the feuding factions to pull together.

Challenge That Went To Goldwater

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Here is the text of Gov. William W. Scranton's challenge to Sen. Barry Goldwater to appear with him before the convention Wednesday for cross-questioning. Goldwater returned the letter without replying.

Dear Senator:

As we move rapidly toward the climax of this convention the Republican party faces a continuing struggle on two counts.

The first involves, of course, selection of a candidate.

Here the issue is extremely clear. It is simply this: will the convention choose the candidate overwhelmingly favored by the Republican voters, or will it choose you?

Your organization does not even argue the merits of the question. They admit that you are a minority candidate, but they feel they have bought, beaten and compromised enough delegate support to make the result a foregone conclusion.

With open contempt for the dignity, integrity and common sense of the convention, your managers say in effect that the delegates are little more than a flock of chickens whose necks will be wrung at will.

I have doublechecked the arithmetic of my staff, and I am convinced that a true count at this minute puts your first-ballot strength at only some 620 votes.

OUR COUNT DIFFERS from that of your managers because we have calculated an important element which they are incapable of comprehending. That is the element of respect for the men and women who make up the delegations to this convention.

We are not taking them for granted. We are not insulting their intelligence or their integrity.

We're not counting noses, we're counting hearts.

We're not issuing orders, we're providing a rallying point for responsibility in the Republican party.

You will be stopped on the first ballot because a sufficient number of your nominal supporters have already indicated to us that they will not vote for you.

They are breaking commitments to you; you have broken commitments to them.

You have too often casually prescribed nuclear war as a solution to a troubled world.

You have too often allowed the radical extremists to use you.

You have too often stood for irresponsibility in the serious question of radical holacaust.

You have too often read Taft and Eisenhower and Lincoln out of the Republican party.

—:—

AND THAT BRINGS ME to the second count on which the Republican party is fighting for its soul.

In the last few days the ill-advised efforts to make us stand for Goldwaterism instead of Republicanism has set off ripples of public opinion across the nation.

All of us in San Francisco are so close to the hour-by-hour story unfolding here, that there is a danger we may overlook the over-all impression being created in the minds of the American people.

Goldwaterism has come to stand for nuclear irresponsibility.

Goldwaterism has come to stand for keeping the name of Eisenhower out of our platform.

Goldwaterism has come to stand for being afraid to forthrightly condemn right-wing extremists.

Goldwaterism has come to stand for refusing to stand for law and order in maintaining racial peace.

In short, Goldwaterism has come to stand for a whole crazy-quilt collection of absurd and dangerous positions that would be soundly repudiated by the American people in November.

Meanwhile, we have tried as best as we can in the rigged situation engineered by your organization to articulate another point of view.

These are not surface differences between you and the vast majority of Republicans. These are soul-deep differences over what the Republican party stands for.

—:—

WE CANNOT LIGHTLY ignore the deep convictions of 60% of the Republican party that Goldwaterism is wrong. Circumstances have given me the responsibility of speaking up for their position. Inclination has given you the task of defending far different opinions.

Neither of us can ignore our responsibilities.

I feel that I have nothing to fear from the convention or from the millions of Americans watching it because my position is a right one.

Certainly you should not fear a convention you claim to control, and I would hope that we have not reached the point where you fear to face the nation.

Therefore, I am asking that you join me in a request to allow both of us to appear before the convention on Wednesday prior to the nominating speeches.

Each of us should be permitted to speak on the issues.

Then we ought to have the opportunity to question each other.

Frankly, few people expect that you will accept my invitation.

If that is true, the implication will be quite clear: you have taken comfort in the inflated claims of your managers and you no longer have any regard for the opinions of uncommitted delegates or of the American public.

So, it is up to you. You must decide whether the Goldwater philosophy can stand public examination—before the convention and before the nation.

Sincerely Yours,
William W. Scranton

But Ohio has reduced farm deaths 48 per cent since 1946, he said, partly as a result of the efforts of such organizations as the Future Farmers of America, 4-H Clubs, Farm Bureau, Grange, the extension service, local and state health departments and various local and state committees interested in safety.

He had been hired into the Midland schools during the 1963-64 school term to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Dominic Divecchio.

Miss Carolyn Karcher of Rochester was named as high school and public librarian. She will receive a salary of $7,600 for a nine-and-a-half month school term, plus a pro-rated share of her salary for an extra month of service.

Samuel Rosatone, maintenance supervisor, was authorized to have plastering work done at the 7th St. building at a cost not to exceed $35.

Student insurance with the Nationwide Insurance Co. was approved to continue for the 1964-65 school year. The insurance cost will be $2 per student on a voluntary basis.

Miss Bernice Coffin, secretary, and Edward Cilli, president, were authorized to negotiate a bank loan of $25,000 to meet current expenses, if necessary.

A letter was received from the Midland Education Association thanking the board for the recent passage of the new salary schedule for salaried personnel.

Interim orders during June amounting of $3,889.39 were ordered paid. The Carnegie Library Board of Trustees was authorized to purchase books in the amount of $395.92. Nesbit Descutner was named as a member of the library Board of Trustees for a five-year term.

General bills for $9,806.21 were ordered paid and cash receipts amounting to $29,172.87 were received and placed in accounts.

Cilli, president, presided.

Next regular meeting will be Aug. 10.

Man, 24, Pinned In Truck Mishap

COLUMBIANA — Jerry Gorschuck, 24, of Austintown suffered lacerations and abrasions Monday at 10:44 a. m. when pinned in a truck which rolled on its side after sliding into a ditch in a lane at the Charles Adams farm southeast of the village.

Columbiana volunteer firemen were called to release Gorschuck from the truck, owned by the Isaly Dairy Co. of Youngstown. He suffered a laceration of the right arm and an abrasion of the left leg.

Gorschuck, picking up milk at the farm, was attempting to dodge water holes in the lane when the truck went into the ditch, according to Deputy Sheriff Howard Gray, who investigated.

Continuance Set In Traffic Count Against Trucker

Because an elerly East End woman remains in City Hospital, a hearing for a Youngstown trucker charged with improper backing in the accident in which she was hurt was continued today in Municipal Court until July 27.

The continuance was requested by Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark to allow the appearance of Mrs. Hazel M. McCreary, 71, of 1212 Pennsylvania Ave. Judge Samuel M. Chertoff continued the $32.50 bond for John E. Grossman, 33, who was represented by Atty. George Woodman of Youngstown. No plea was entered.

Grossman was cited Friday morning after his backing truck allegedly knocked down Mrs. McCreary as she crossed Pennsylvania Ave. near Central Ave.

Danny Nicholas Saracco, 1209 Clover St., Wellsville, was fined $25 and costs by Judge Chertoff after pleading guilty to a charge of driving at speeds in excess of road conditions.

Two city men were bound over to the Grand Jury today after a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court on charges of attempted breaking and entering of a physician's office.

Patrick M. Geon of E. 4th St. and Nicholas C. Zoellers of Manor Ln. were held by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who fixed their bonds at $1,000 each. Both pleaded not guilty to the charges filed by Patrolman R. J. Brookes.

Brookes testified he stood behind a pole in Peach Alley watching the movements of two men early Friday morning while he was en route to eat lunch.

The officer said he heard the sound of breaking glass and raced to the office of Dr. J. Fraser Jackson, 124 W. 5th St., calling to the men to stop.

They ran south in Peach Alley and continued to flee despite a warning shot fired by the officer. After they split up, the officer said he lost them but returned to headquarters and broadcast a description.

He then went to the New York Restaurant where he spotted Zoellers sitting at the counter and placed him under arrest, he said. Geon was taken into custody by Patrolman David Mumaw, who also testified.

Man, 24, Pinned In Truck Mishap

COLUMBIANA — Jerry Gorschuck, 24, of Austintown suffered lacerations and abrasions Monday at 10:44 a. m. when pinned in a truck which rolled on its side after sliding into a ditch in a lane at the Charles Adams farm southeast of the village.

Columbiana volunteer firemen were called to release Gorschuck from the truck, owned by the Isaly Dairy Co. of Youngstown. He suffered a laceration of the right arm and an abrasion of the left leg.

Gorschuck, picking up milk at the farm, was attempting to dodge water holes in the lane when the truck went into the ditch, according to Deputy Sheriff Howard Gray, who investigated.

Marvel Of The Modern World

The best time to understand the two-party system is while the party conventions are in progress.

Few of us can look at the conventions objectively, because our own feelings are involved. Objectivity is reserved for the few among us who are politically dispassionate end for foeign observers studying the party system.

But anyone can see plainly the tremendous influence of emotion in these party gatherings. There is little, if any, of the systematic evaluation of people and problems that would be expected if a board of directors were choosing a new president for a corporation. America picks presidential candidates in an atmosphere of hoopla.

This may be and sometimes is a means of diverting attention from the underlying mechanics of rounding up votes of delegates and lining up campaign funds.

But it is the main aspect of every politicai convention — the gimmicks, tub-thumping, dining, wining, parading, button-holing, entertaining and camaraderie.

It is mostly what the public sees and hears about, and it is mostly what the delegates see and hear about, too.

In the game of politics, political conventions are part of the fun that make the game attractive. Nowhere more than in the United States is government responsibility approached this way. Elsewhere, it is dealt with soberly and grimly, with a great show of responsibility that frequently produces consequences more farcial than anything ever seen in the United States.

No other government ever has dared to dream of achieving stability on what is essentially a basis of emotionalism. The party conventions, where the two-party system has its foundation, are the marvel of the modern world.

Fair Exchange

Another interesting and noteworthy chapter is being written in the records of 4-H activities in Columbiana County under the exchange program now being conducted in cooperation with a group from the state of Michigan.

The primary objective is to advance 4-H work in the two states. But there are certain "fringe" benefits that should prove of value not only to 4-Her's but to the rest of us as well.

Through the Michigan group's visit here and through the county representatives' visit to Michigan there will be an exchange of ideas, a friendly association and other pleasant relationship which should help bring the two states closer together not only on a 4-H level but on other levels as well.

We add our welcome to those being extended the visitors from the Wolverine state and hope their visit will be a memorable one.

Undermining The Foundation

Nothing anyone could say about the murder of Lemuel A. Penn on a highway in Georgia by unknown assassins could be a stronger argument for sanity in that trouble state than the comments by Georgia Gov. Carl E. Sanders.

The victim of the murder and two other Negroes had been in a summer military training camp at Ft. Benning, Ga. They were on their way home to Washington, where Mr. Penn was director of the capital city's five vocational schools. He was a lieutenant colonel in the Army reserve.

There is no direct evidence of racial murder, but the horrible fact is that Georgia has earned a reputation for racial violence. Gov. Sanders replaced Marvin Griffin in the 1962 election. As governor, Griffin had been forthright champion of race hatred and had pledged total resistance to desegregation. His successor is reaping the whirlwind of seeds of violence and corruption planted as far back as the era of the late U.S. Sen. Theodore Bilbo.

Bilbo was an infamous apostle of race hatred whose violence and corruption finally caused him to be barred from taking his seat in the Senate in January 1947 by a bipartisan majority of senators led by Ohio's Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Referring to the kind of people capable of committing murder against members of the Negro race in Georgia, Gov. Sanders said:

This unfortunate nonsensical occurrence . . . represents the inflammatory reaction of a person with a demented mind. If we want to see our state destroyed, our citizens demoralized and the very foundation of our nation undermined, we have only to let this type of individual assume great prominence and eventually take over, and this will be the end of America."

Southerners, who resent criticism from outside the South, now have heard a fair summary of their problem by the governor of Georgia.

Seems Likely

Baseball buffs are still replaying the All-Star Game and football fans are starting to talk about the new gridiron season.

Professional football players are beginning to practice openly. Semipros are doing it clandestinely and amateurs are body-building, with an occasional football thrown around to remind them of life's forthcoming realities.

Not only do baseball and football now elbow each other for attention in July, but in the Adirondacks, where such things go on routinely, basketball players stay sharp for a season that will start halfway through the football season.

This blending of sports is a growing thing. Indoor track has crowded outdoor track into oblivion. Ski slides are built indoors and slicked down with artificial snow outdoors.

It is only a matter of time until all games, excluding golf, which is less a game than an exhibition featuring man vs. himself, will be played the year 'round. Covered ball parks will make baseball feasible in midwinter, football in midsummer and basketball, of course, is feasible anywhere that two "peach baskets" can be hung on facing walls.

Legal Rights

By Truman Twill

All of us now have had time to feel sick at the stomach about the New York woman who saved her honor and perhaps her life with a switch-blade knife, then was booked by police for carrying an illegal weapon.

What made the law's asininity especially hard to bear was the fact the knife would have been legal had it been a stiletto, a toad-stabber, a Barlow, a cat-skinner, or a butcher knife. Switch-blade knives are out.

This is something for New York women to think about as they arm for self-protection in a city so dangerous that neither women nor men are safe on the streets in some sections.

They must find something within the law to keep themselves from being harmed, perhaps murdered, by people who operate outside the law — people who can count on judicial leniency if they get caught. Everything is on their side. Someone's always protecting their "rights."

A NEW YORK store dealing in items a shopper doesn't expect to find just anywhere has been advertising a siren suitable for carrying in a purse, a pocket, or keeping by the bedside. It uses a compressed gas cylinder that will last through 150 two-second blasts.

The noise will carry over many city blocks, or as far as a mile in open country. Whether anyone would pay any attention to it, however, is a matter of conjecture. Some New Yorkers would shrug and say there goes another one of those panic horns, so what.

Others would put in a call for the police because some fool was violating the anti-noise ordinance. Whereupon the police would come and ask to see the operator's license for committing a public nuisance.

So what's a person to do once he lives in mortal terror? The young woman booked for carrying a switch-blade in her purse thought she might switch to hat pins, but that's ridiculous. A woman can't carry a hat pin in a purse.

A tear gas bomb would be nice, and a hand grenade nicer, but they're illegal. Also a revolver. Grandpa's double-barreled shotgun is legal, provided the barrels haven't been sawed off, but not practical.

ABOUT THE only thing left that isn't against the law, when it comes to self-protection against the lawless, is a water pistol full of ammonia. But the trouble with water pistols is that they leak.

Ergo, what this brave republic needs is a leakproof water pistol containing an ammonia capsule that would remain intact until punctured by a needle activated by the trigger.

This security item could be placed on the market with endorsements by leading law enforcement authorities and immediately would become so popular with hoodlums looking for new ways to terrorize their victims that it would be made illegal

What it simmers down to, fellow chickens, is that our legal right to save ourselves from the chopping block is clouded. The only people left in this great, good country with unclouded legal rights any more are hoodlums, scofflaws and similar baddies whose rights are assiduously protected by the law if they get caught and otherwise they don't need to worry.

Government Invasion Of Our Rights

The dismaying debacle of a legislative stall-in conducted by a willful little band of narrow gauged men who do not believe that equal justice, equal respect and equal opportunity are the patrimony of every American has brought to a new pitch the public discussion of civil rights. At long last we have had a legislative breakthrough — along lines carefully mapped by the patient and probing investigations of the Civil Rights Commission, which pricked the conscience of the land.

At long last we shall begin to catch up with some other countries of the world which have practiced the equality we have preached.

CIVIL LIBERTIES are immunities against encroachments by government into the rights of privacy that each American enjoys. They protect us against the excesses of totalitarian government and form a vital part of the freedoms to which we urge other nations of the world to aspire.

They gaurantee Americans freedom of speech, freedom of religion, security against arbitrary police action, a fair trial and other rights which we have too long taken for granted.

They are restraints upon the government, not benefits flowing from it.

In one of his more eloquent but infrequently quoted statements the late President Kennedy brilliantly distinguished civil rights and civil liberties this way:

"By civil rights we mean those claims which the citizen has to the affirmative assistance government. In an age which insistently and properly demands that government secure the weak from needless dread and needless misery, the catalogue of civil rights is never closed.

"The obligation of government in the area of civil rights is never wholly discharged.

"By civil liberties, I mean an individual's immunity from governmental oppression. A society which respects civil liberty realizes that the freedom of its people is built, in large part, upon their privacy.

"The Bill of Rights, in the eyes of its framers, was a catalogue of immunities, not a schedule of claim. It was, in other words, a Bill of Liberties. . . .

"When civil rights are seen as claims and civil liberties as immunities, the government's differing responsibilities become clear. For the security of rights the energy of government is essential. For the security of liberty restraint is indispensable."

THE TIME has come for deep concern over our civil liberties as well as our civil rights.

The right to privacy of communication to which every American is entitled under the law of the land is being flagrantly violated by law enforcement officers at both the state and federal levels.

I'm convinced that it can be fairly said that wire-tapping by federal and local police is more rampant than ever before in our history. It is done not only without judicial supervision but in flat violation of law. It has become a standard investigative technique.

Nor are we protected against surreptitious invasion of the privacy of our non-telephone conversations. It has become a standard police practice to listen in on suspects' conversations through a variety of highly sophisticated electronic devices which need not even be on or near the premises to do their dirty work.

Both federal and local police perpetrate these invasions, not withstanding the fact that such practices are at war with the Constitution and the laws of the land.

There is a device, which can be manufactured for as little as $25, that not only picks up all conversations held over the telephone, but also all conversations held in the room where the telephone is located.

In a few minutes' time any telephone can be transformed into a microphone which transmits every sound in the room, even when the receiver is on the hook, to the ear of a surreptitious listener in another building. In the last year such devices have been used extensively by federal law enforcement officers.

JUSTICE BRANDEIS' prophetic fears voiced 36 years ago in his denunciation of wiretapping have become a reality:

"Discovery and invention have made it possible for the government, by means far more effective than stretching upon the rack, to obtain disclosure in court of what is whispered in the closet. . . .

"The progress of science in furnishing the government with means of espionage is not likely to stop with wiretapping. Ways may some day be developed by which the government, without removing papers from secret drawers, can produce them in court and by which it will be enabled to expose to a jury the most intimate occurences of the home. . . .

"Can it be that the Constitution affords no protection against such invasions of individual security?"

In addition to wiretapping and eavesdropping we have with us now the invidious "mail cover" — a frequently used but little known investigative technique employed by the Post Office Department at the request of other branches of the government.

This is a prying tactic by which the interested government agency gets the names and addresses of all persons corresponding with the subject and then proceeds to interview them with respect to the subject matter of the correspondence.

Over a century ago it was made a crime to open other people's mail and pry into their business. The mail cover does indirectly what we long ago outlawed if directly done.

THESE INVASIONS of privacy are practiced with almost no judicial supervision. They are criminal violations in themselves. Congress has shown no real interest in ameliorating the evil and it's safe to predict that, left to its own devices, it will show none in the future.

It's absurd to expect that the law enforcement branches will police themselves and bring prosecutions against themselves to halt this wholesale infringement of the people's liberty. They justify their acts in terms of "necessity."

This, of course, has been the argument for every infringement on personal liberty since the advent of free societies. It is the "argument of tyrants and the creed of slaves," said William Pitt.

Who is there to guard us against those who are supposed to guard us? This question, asked by Juvenal nineteen hundred years ago in Rome, may well be asked again. The time has come for the creation of a National Commission on Civil Liberties, patterned after the Civil Rights Commission, with independence of operation and the power to hold hearings, receive evidence and submit its findings and reports to the president and the people.

THE RIGHTS Commission has the duty to prove unequal protection of rights — areas where governmental action has been restrained too much. The Liberties Commission should probe where government has been restrained too little.

Only in this way can the real facts on the state of civil liberties in the United States of America today to be laid before the people for their judgment and before the president for his judgment and for the exercise of his moral and executive leadership in this too long neglected area.

'Climbing Aboard'

By David Lawrence

Delegates Don't Like To Be Left Behind

SAN FRANCISCO—The state of mind of the majority of the delegates at the Republican National Convention is illustrated best by a piece of advice that the late Sen. Claude Swanson of Virginia once gave to his fellow politicians in what came to be known as "Swanson's Code." One of the admonitions was:

David Lawrence

"Always climb aboard the rear platform of a train before it actually leaves the railroad station."

SOMETIMES this has been referred to as "climbing aboard the bandwagon."

"But, whatever the setting, the connotation remains the same. Delegates — especially the "noncommitted"—don't like to be left behind and go back home to face their constituents with a record of having misjudged the prevailing trend.

It might be asked, then, why a minority of the delegates have hesitated to go with the tide and come out for Sen. Goldwater.

One reason is that advance claims as to delegate strength often are discounted. And no one can be sure whether the number really lined up for a prospective nominee is as big as it is made out to be.

OFTEN there are delegates who waver and vacillate as seemingly logical arguments are pressed upon them.

Gov. Scranton of Pennsylvania and his managers here have been hoping to create such doubts and to bring about a "cross - over," but the effort hasn't proved successful.

In fact, it is conceivable that some of Mr. Scranton's pointed criticisms of Sen. Goldwater unwittingly may have strengthened the Arizona senator by intensifying the determination of those working for him.

There are signs, for instance — among many of the women voters especially — that the Goldwater support has reached a point of fanaticism. They resent the tactics used in an attempt to deprive the Arizona senator of the nomination when he is regarded as more truly reflecting the sentiment of the Republican party than any of the others mentioned for the nomination.

THIS WRITER traveled here for two days on the Santa Fe Railroad's special "caucus" train, bearing former President Eisenhower and his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, and many delegates.

The Goldwater strength is conceded. Dr. Eisenhower, who is president of Johns Hopkins University and is to make the principal speech nominating Gov. Scranton, gives the impression that the Arizona senator is on top but that there is still hope for a miracle to bring about a shift to Mr. Scranton.

The former President, on the other hand, does not publicly express any preference, and it is not difficult to assume that, while he might have liked someone else better, he recognizes the deep - seated desire for a Goldwater nomination which is being manifested in different parts of the country.

SOMEHOW the Arizona senator has caught the imagination of the local leaders, who admire his courage and forthrightness and tend to minimize the effect of those recent attacks which attempt to picture the senator as not qualified for the office.

Gen. Eisenoower said at one of the press conferences held on the train that there are always things to criticize about prospective nominees, and that really there is no "ideal president," but that each man who wins the high office is eager to learn and does learn by experience.

HE DIDN'T mention any names, but this writer has observed that presidents in their first term are likely to make mistakes.

They learn by experience and usually after two years or more in office have a better grasp of the problems that face a chief executive.

Mr. Eisenhower himself learned the hard way, and so did the late President Kennedy, who again and again wished he could have handled the "Bay of Pigs" invasion differently.

All that the American people can do is to pick a man who has common sense and a rugged honesty.

All kinds of advice are given a president, but in the final analysis it is his obligation to form a judgment based on what is honest, what is fair and what is for the best interest, not just of a political party but of the nation.

MR. GOLDWATER impresses supporters as thai kind of conscientious person, and former President Eisenhower is truly neutral — he will go along with the nominee of the convention whoever he happens to be and will do his utmost to help the Republican party win the election.

He is convinced, incidentally, that the outcome is by no means a foregone conclusion.

For the expected, of course, doesn't always happen. It may be recalled, for instance, that Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1956, told a nationwide audience over the radio on election eve that the American people had better not elect as president a man who had just suffered a stroke and a heart attack, implying that the life span might be short.

But here it is nearly 12 years later, and Dwight Eisenhower, as he faced a group of correspondents on the train this weekend, never seemed more robust and in more buoyant spirits — a picture of good health.

CRITICISM

Criticism often takes from the tree caterpillars and blossoms together.

Jean Paul Richter

The legitimate aim of criticism is to direct attention to the excellent.

Christian N. Bovee

It is a barren kind of criticism which tells you what a thing is not.

Rufus W. Griswold

Honest criticism and sensitive appreciation are directed not upon the poet but upon the poetry.

T. S. Eliot

The wrong lies in unmerited censure, — in the falsehood which does no one any good.

Mary Baker Eddy

Instead of criticism by speech, to show someone a better way to do a thing would be of much greater value.

Marvel Of The Modern World

The best time to understand the two-party system is while the party conventions are in progress.

Few of us can look at the conventions objectively, because our own feelings are involved. Objectivity is reserved for the few among us who are politically dispassionate end for foeign observers studying the party system.

But anyone can see plainly the tremendous influence of emotion in these party gatherings. There is little, if any, of the systematic evaluation of people and problems that would be expected if a board of directors were choosing a new president for a corporation. America picks presidential candidates in an atmosphere of hoopla.

This may be and sometimes is a means of diverting attention from the underlying mechanics of rounding up votes of delegates and lining up campaign funds.

But it is the main aspect of every politicai convention — the gimmicks, tub-thumping, dining, wining, parading, button-holing, entertaining and camaraderie.

It is mostly what the public sees and hears about, and it is mostly what the delegates see and hear about, too.

In the game of politics, political conventions are part of the fun that make the game attractive. Nowhere more than in the United States is government responsibility approached this way. Elsewhere, it is dealt with soberly and grimly, with a great show of responsibility that frequently produces consequences more farcial than anything ever seen in the United States.

No other government ever has dared to dream of achieving stability on what is essentially a basis of emotionalism. The party conventions, where the two-party system has its foundation, are the marvel of the modern world.

Fair Exchange

Another interesting and noteworthy chapter is being written in the records of 4-H activities in Columbiana County under the exchange program now being conducted in cooperation with a group from the state of Michigan.

The primary objective is to advance 4-H work in the two states. But there are certain "fringe" benefits that should prove of value not only to 4-Her's but to the rest of us as well.

Through the Michigan group's visit here and through the county representatives' visit to Michigan there will be an exchange of ideas, a friendly association and other pleasant relationship which should help bring the two states closer together not only on a 4-H level but on other levels as well.

We add our welcome to those being extended the visitors from the Wolverine state and hope their visit will be a memorable one.

Undermining The Foundation

Nothing anyone could say about the murder of Lemuel A. Penn on a highway in Georgia by unknown assassins could be a stronger argument for sanity in that trouble state than the comments by Georgia Gov. Carl E. Sanders.

The victim of the murder and two other Negroes had been in a summer military training camp at Ft. Benning, Ga. They were on their way home to Washington, where Mr. Penn was director of the capital city's five vocational schools. He was a lieutenant colonel in the Army reserve.

There is no direct evidence of racial murder, but the horrible fact is that Georgia has earned a reputation for racial violence. Gov. Sanders replaced Marvin Griffin in the 1962 election. As governor, Griffin had been forthright champion of race hatred and had pledged total resistance to desegregation. His successor is reaping the whirlwind of seeds of violence and corruption planted as far back as the era of the late U.S. Sen. Theodore Bilbo.

Bilbo was an infamous apostle of race hatred whose violence and corruption finally caused him to be barred from taking his seat in the Senate in January 1947 by a bipartisan majority of senators led by Ohio's Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Referring to the kind of people capable of committing murder against members of the Negro race in Georgia, Gov. Sanders said:

This unfortunate nonsensical occurrence . . . represents the inflammatory reaction of a person with a demented mind. If we want to see our state destroyed, our citizens demoralized and the very foundation of our nation undermined, we have only to let this type of individual assume great prominence and eventually take over, and this will be the end of America."

Southerners, who resent criticism from outside the South, now have heard a fair summary of their problem by the governor of Georgia.

Seems Likely

Baseball buffs are still replaying the All-Star Game and football fans are starting to talk about the new gridiron season.

Professional football players are beginning to practice openly. Semipros are doing it clandestinely and amateurs are body-building, with an occasional football thrown around to remind them of life's forthcoming realities.

Not only do baseball and football now elbow each other for attention in July, but in the Adirondacks, where such things go on routinely, basketball players stay sharp for a season that will start halfway through the football season.

This blending of sports is a growing thing. Indoor track has crowded outdoor track into oblivion. Ski slides are built indoors and slicked down with artificial snow outdoors.

It is only a matter of time until all games, excluding golf, which is less a game than an exhibition featuring man vs. himself, will be played the year 'round. Covered ball parks will make baseball feasible in midwinter, football in midsummer and basketball, of course, is feasible anywhere that two "peach baskets" can be hung on facing walls.

THIS WRITER traveled here for two days on the Santa Fe Railroad's special "caucus" train, bearing former President Eisenhower and his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, and many delegates.

The Goldwater strength is conceded. Dr. Eisenhower, who is president of Johns Hopkins University and is to make the principal speech nominating Gov. Scranton, gives the impression that the Arizona senator is on top but that there is still hope for a miracle to bring about a shift to Mr. Scranton.

The former President, on the other hand, does not publicly express any preference, and it is not difficult to assume that, while he might have liked someone else better, he recognizes the deep - seated desire for a Goldwater nomination which is being manifested in different parts of the country.

SOMEHOW the Arizona senator has caught the imagination of the local leaders, who admire his courage and forthrightness and tend to minimize the effect of those recent attacks which attempt to picture the senator as not qualified for the office.

Gen. Eisenoower said at one of the press conferences held on the train that there are always things to criticize about prospective nominees, and that really there is no "ideal president," but that each man who wins the high office is eager to learn and does learn by experience.

HE DIDN'T mention any names, but this writer has observed that presidents in their first term are likely to make mistakes.

They learn by experience and usually after two years or more in office have a better grasp of the problems that face a chief executive.

Mr. Eisenhower himself learned the hard way, and so did the late President Kennedy, who again and again wished he could have handled the "Bay of Pigs" invasion differently.

All that the American people can do is to pick a man who has common sense and a rugged honesty.

All kinds of advice are given a president, but in the final analysis it is his obligation to form a judgment based on what is honest, what is fair and what is for the best interest, not just of a political party but of the nation.

MR. GOLDWATER impresses supporters as that kind of conscientious person, and former President Eisenhower is truly neutral — he will go along with the nominee of the convention whoever he happens to be and will do his utmost to help the Republican party win the election.

He is convinced, incidentally, that the outcome is by no means a foregone conclusion.

For the expected, of course, doesn't always happen. It may be recalled, for instance, that Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1956, told a nationwide audience over the radio on election eve that the American people had better not elect as president a man who had just suffered a stroke and a heart attack, implying that the life span might be short.

But here it is nearly 12 years later, and Dwight Eisenhower, as he faced a group of correspondents on the train this weekend, never seemed more robust and in more buoyant spirits — a picture of good health.

Gems Of Thought

CRITICISM

Criticism often takes from the tree caterpillars and blossoms together.

Jean Paul Richter

The legitimate aim of criticism is to direct attention to the excellent.

Christian N. Bovee

It is a barren kind of criticism which tells you what a thing is not.

Rufus W. Griswold

Honest criticism and sensitive appreciation are directed not upon the poet but upon the poetry.

T. S. Eliot

The wrong lies in unmerited censure, — in the falsehood which does no one any good.

Mary Baker Eddy

Instead of criticism by speech, to show someone a better way to do a thing would be of much greater value.

John Wanamaker

GOP

running mate was Rep. William E. Miller, New York Roman Catholic, who heads the Republican National Committee. But there was a reservation that if former President Dwight D. Eisenhower should request it, some approach to Scranton might be made.

Goldwater said, after hearing Scranton's explanation on the letter that "I feel more charitable about it now."

If the presidential and vice presidential nominations thus seemed to be more or less resolved, there remained the choice of a new national chairman to succeed Miller. Denison Kitchel, Goldwater's campaign manager, emerged as the top choice for this job.

Monday night, in the convention's keynote speech, Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon said that in opposing the Democrats the Republicans should offer the nation "a choice between fear and faith."

Hatfield characterized the Johnson administration as fear-breeding and reactionary, accused President Johnson of doubletalk and needled him about the Bobby Baker case.

Republicans have said they intend to make a campaign issue out of the private financial operations of Bobby Baker, secretary to the Senate Democrats when Johnson was their leader. Johnson accepted a hi-fi set a Washington insurance man said he sent Johnson at Baker's suggestion.

Hatfield got resounding applause when he criticized the John Birch Society, the Ku Klux Klan and the Communist party. He urged Republicans, Democrats and independents to "set out again on the pilgrimage of faith—as opposed to fear and hatred."

For the first time in 36 years former President Herbert Hoover, now 89 and ailing, is not at the Republican convention. He sent a message which was read for him by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Hoover proposed a brief, eight-point declaration of principles in place of the long platform the convention will adopt today and said the Republican party offers the "best assurance that these principles will prevail in the United States."

An emotional peak was reached when Dirksen called for "an ovation to lengthen his span of years." The Cow Palace rocked with cheers.

Both Goldwater and Scranton paid calls on Eisenhower at his hotel Monday. Neither came away with any tangible evidence that the former president is doing anything but remaining neutral in the presidential contest.

running mate was Rep. William E. Miller, New York Roman Catholic, who heads the Republican National Committee. But there was a reservation that if former President Dwight D. Eisenhower should request it, some approach to Scranton might be made.

Goldwater said, after hearing Scranton's explanation on the letter that "I feel more charitable about it now."

If the presidential and vice presidential nominations thus seemed to be more or less resolved, there remained the choice of a new national chairman to succeed Miller. Denison Kitchel, Goldwater's campaign manager, emerged as the top choice for this job.

Monday night, in the convention's keynote speech, Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon said that in opposing the Democrats the Republicans should offer the nation "a choice between fear and faith."

Hatfield characterized the Johnson administration as fear-breeding and reactionary, accused President Johnson of doubletalk and needled him about the Bobby Baker case.

Republicans have said they intend to make a campaign issue out of the private financial operations of Bobby Baker, secretary to the Senate Democrats when Johnson was their leader. Johnson accepted a hi-fi set a Washington insurance man said he sent Johnson at Baker's suggestion.

Hatfield got resounding applause when he criticized the John Birch Society, the Ku Klux Klan and the Communist party. He urged Republicans, Democrats and independents to "set out again on the pilgrimage of faith—as opposed to fear and hatred."

For the first time in 36 years former President Herbert Hoover, now 89 and ailing, is not at the Republican convention. He sent a message which was read for him by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Hoover proposed a brief, eight-point declaration of principles in place of the long platform the convention will adopt today and said the Republican party offers the "best assurance that these principles will prevail in the United States."

An emotional peak was reached when Dirksen called for "an ovation to lengthen his span of years." The Cow Palace rocked with cheers.

Both Goldwater and Scranton paid calls on Eisenhower at his hotel Monday. Neither came away with any tangible evidence that the former president is doing anything but remaining neutral in the presidential contest.

Schools' Budget Left Unchanged

The 1965 budget, estimating figures almost identical with the actual appropriations for this year, was adopted by the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night.

The budget includes $692,000 for the general fund, compared with the $692,109.92 appropriated for the current calendar year.

Raymond Rolley, clerk, pointed out that with no new levies, no additional money is anticipated to increase the budget.

Salaries were increased from $460,000 this year to $468,000 in 1965. Administration went from $29,380 to $31,000.

Co-ordinating activities, the library fund and others remain exactly the same. Transportation of pupils was estimated at $8,900, up from the appropriation of $8,850. The operation of the school plants were increased $150.

—:—

THE REASON the slight increases do not boost the overall total is because the maintenance fund was dropped from $28,650 to an estimated $19,350.

The figures will be presented to the County Budget Commission at Lisbon, which fixes the total amount the board actually may appropriate.

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of two employes and hired five new instructors.

The resignations were from Edward P. McGivern, as custodian at McKinley School, and Mrs. Evelyn Jordan, as home economics instructor. Mrs. Jordan is moving to Arizona.

The board went on record requesting the Civil Service Commission to hold an examination for the position of custodian, as the present list has but one name remaining. There are two vacancies to fill.

—:—

PAUL MIKANIK was employed as an industrial arts instructor and coach at a salary of $6,030. Miss Judith Dornick was employed as home economics instructor at a salary of $4,777.78, while Miss Ruth Kocal was employed as an English teacher at a salary of $4,300.

Mrs. Marjorie Dysert of Main St., Wellsville, was employed as an elementary instructor at a salary of $3,800, while Mrs. Saundra Baker of Wellsville was employed as an elementary teacher at a salary of $4,100.

A graduate of Follansbee (W. Va.) High School, Mikanik attended the University of Pittsburgh.

He also attended West Virginia University at Morgantown, West Liberty College and Ohio Northern. He was a noted football player, both in high school and college.

—:—

FOR THE last five years, he has taught industrial arts and driver training at Conotton Valley High School at Bowerston, Tuscarawas County. He also was head football coach there.

Miss Dornick is a graduate of Wellsville High School and Ohio University at Athens. Miss Kocal resides in Toronto and is a graduate of Steubenville College.

Both Mrs. Dyesert and Mrs. Baker have taught in the system in the past as regulars and substitutes.

In a promotion within the system, Mrs. Clara Murray was named head cook in the high school cafeteria at a salary of $2,150. She had been assistant cook. Mrs. Betty Glass of Hillcrest, was named as assistant at a salary of $1,850. She had been an assistant at Fairview School. Mrs. Carolyn Ketchum was named to fill the post held by Mrs. Glass at Fairview at a salary of $1,000.

MRS. FRANK Wellington of the Old Irondale Rd. applied for cafeteria work. She was told she would be given an application.

The contracts of 19 non-teaching personnel were renewed for another year. No salary changes were noted, with the exception of the standard increments awarded to four.

Mrs. Pearl Duck was hired as a temporary secretary at MacDonald School at a rate of $1.25 an hour.

The board also approved the adoption of new textbooks for Freshmen, Sophomore and Senior English classes and for Spanish classes in the Freshmen and Sophomore grades.

The new texts were recommended by the secondary English committee and foreign language committee.

—:—

SUPT. LOWELL B. Myers reported the language laboratory has been installed. The teachers will be trained in its use before the opening of school, he said.

It was reported the audit has been completed of all school activities and all treasuries found in good order. Beginning the next term, the treasurers of all school organizations and classes will use standardized forms and will report once a month on the funds on hand.

Supt. Myers reported on the remodeling of the high school auditorium. The painting is nearly complete. The doors have been installed and some work remains to be done on the sub-flooring. The lighting fixtures will be installed later this week.

—:—

THE NEW seats are to be shipped this week. A new stage backdrop curtain was ordered at a cost of $378.

The board approved a request for a spirit duplicating machine for the use of high school teachers at a cost of $299.50, plus $59 for the cabinet.

Contracts were awarded for cafeteria supplies for the coming term. The Russell Dairy of Wellsville was awarded a contract for supplying milk on its lone bid of 6 cents per half pint for either white or chocolate milk. The firm also will provide the necessary refrigeration. It has had the contract ever since the cafeteria went into operation.

Goddard Bakers, Inc., of Chester again received the contract for supplying bread and buns. It was the lone bidder and also has held the contract in the past.

—:—

THE BID was 14½ cents per loaf for a 20-slice loaf of bread and 27 cents a package for buns. Raymond Rolley, clerk, pointed out the bread is cheaper this year, as it was 15½ cents for an 18-slice loaf last year.

The board took under consideration a proposal to paint the acoustical ceilings in the MacDonald and Daw buildings. The board agreed to have a waterproof silicon solution applied to the brick exterior of the high school auditorium.

—:—

ROLLEY reported he will attend a clerk's conference July 21 at Kent State University.

Dr. Janis Lauva, board member, suggested students be urged to carry their books in brief cases or a similar case. He pointed out new books easily can be ruined when it is raining or snowing.

"It is a shame to treat good books in such a manner," he commented.

Myers said he will discuss this with the teachers and have them urge the students to utilize some form of case.

Council has a provision that if any organization obtains signatures of two-thirds of the business places, such an event may be held on the village streets.

Council discussed the Sadie VanFossan Memorial Swimming Pool, advising that bonds issued for the project in 1955 will be paid off in April 1965.

CORAL

One of our most interesting organic gem materials is Coral. Like the pearl, our other gift from the sea, it has enjoyed great popularity through history. Prior to the middle ages, the securing of the rights to the coral fisheries on the African coasts was a matter of considerable rivalry among Mediterranean communities. Before the 16th century control was held by Italy whose artisans valued coral for their intricate cameo carvings. Later the French gained monoply, before it passed into the hands of the British for a time.

In ancient Greece, Coral was associated with the legend of Medusa. It was told that Perseus, after cutting off the Gorgon's head, stopped to wash his hands in the sea. He laid the head writhing with snakes upon a batch of green vegetation, and supposedly, the blood turned the grasses to a red stone.

Gemologically, Coral is composed of the hard skeletons of various marine organisms. The color most in demand is the red, or "ox blood" coral. Other shades range from pale pink to deep red, but both white and black coral are also highly prized. Coral is now used a great deal with pearls and gold in necklaces, although the Orientals carve many objects of art out of large stalks of coral. It is also used quite often for fine Rosary beads.

The American Gem Society tells us that among the Romans, branches of Coral were hung around children's neck to preserve them from danger. It was also thought that Coral would drive away ghosts, illusions, dreams, lightning and tempests.

CORAL

One of our most interesting organic gem materials is Coral. Like the pearl, our other gift from the sea, it has enjoyed great popularity through history. Prior to the middle ages, the securing of the rights to the coral fisheries on the African coasts was a matter of considerable rivalry among Mediterranean communities. Before the 16th century control was held by Italy whose artisans valued coral for their intricate cameo carvings. Later the French gained monoply, before it passed into the hands of the British for a time.

In ancient Greece, Coral was associated with the legend of Medusa. It was told that Perseus, after cutting off the Gorgon's head, stopped to wash his hands in the sea. He laid the head writhing with snakes upon a batch of green vegetation, and supposedly, the blood turned the grasses to a red stone.

Gemologically, Coral is composed of the hard skeletons of various marine organisms. The color most in demand is the red, or "ox blood" coral. Other shades range from pale pink to deep red, but both white and black coral are also highly prized. Coral is now used a great deal with pearls and gold in necklaces, although the Orientals carve many objects of art out of large stalks of coral. It is also used quite often for fine Rosary beads.

The American Gem Society tells us that among the Romans, branches of Coral were hung around children's neck to preserve them from danger. It was also thought that Coral would drive away ghosts, illusions, dreams, lightning and tempests.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

The Terrible-Tempered Captain

Joe Flynn, who plays the terrible - tempered Capt. Binghamton in ABC's unsinkable comedy series, "McHale's Navy," originally piped aboard as the sweet but fat-headed Ensign Charles Parker, who is played by Tom Conway.

Alan Gill

"I'd always had the Ensign Parker kind of role," said Flynn over lunch last week. (He had waded ashore onto Manhattan Island while en route between London and Hollywood.) "But then Tom had come along and was just right for it."

-:-

THE ONLY PART left to me was the captain. I went to MCA, which owns the studio and a good part of the known world. Since they were my agents, they knew my true age, which was 36 at the time, too young to be a four-stripe veteran officer. But it was the captain or nothing at that point.

"Ever since, everyone thinks I'm 85 years old. I'm only 37. If only I'd landed Tom's part, people wouldn't be helping me into cabs."

Joe Flynn's delineation of the role has changed, he said, "only a little."

-:-

"AT THE START, I felt I had to take advice from every angle, and I did. Now it's all settled down and I play it my own way and the directors don't have so many suggestions to offer.

"One director at the beginning said, 'Make it crisp.' Now in terms of a salad I know what that means. I changed my voice a little, hoping he thought I'd become more crisp, and it worked.

Is the captain's character, Flynn was asked, anything like his own?

"I'm afraid so," he said. "It's almost identical." And he hung his head in shame.

But is his mail friendly?

"Most of it comes from kids," he said, "and they've apparently got a father's image of me.

-:-

"THERE'S NO bad mail, because I always get my comeuppance in the end, falling off a cliff or something, and they've got to feel sorry for this old fool. Shucks, if I went around clapping men in irons, I'd get all kinds of stuff!

"My own kids, who are 3 and 5, seem vastly unimpressed with my work. They watch TV all day and night — 'I Love Lucy,' 'I Married Joan,' 'I Grabbed Gertie,' or whatever— and they don't bat an eye lash when I come along.

Flynn, with his sharp features and black-rimmed glasses, is recognized immediately whereever he sets foot in this country.

"But going to Europe," he complained, "is like stepping out of a nice warm shower.

-:-

"IN MOST of Europe, 'McHale's Navy' hasn't done too well. Most of TV there is government - owned and controlled and the governments do not take a light and funny attitude toward uniforms — though we're a big hit, strangely enough, in Spain.

"England signed us on for 13 weeks, but then canceled out after 11. It seems that, with the closing of the British Admiralty and the First Lord's becoming in effect their 'Undersecretary of Defense,' the English can't see much that's funny in a Navy show.

"I should think we'd do well in West Germany; they're so anti-uniform these days, you can't believe it. All the traffic policemen have is a whistle and a butcher's jacket — no badge or gun — though I feel there's a thing with gold buttons and epaulettes hanging in the closet at home, ready for use."

-:-

EVERYWHERE he went in Europe, however, "Ernie Borgnine was terribly well known— through 'Marty,' of course. That picture had great appeal everywhere and it still holds up."

As "McHale" heads into its third season, Joe Flynn insists the company is a close group.

"It's like being brother in a 35-member college fraternity. You've got to hate someone, somewhere along the way. But then you're singing songs and lighting candles and realizing you're all brothers again."

The absence of women has helped the cause of amity, he feels.

"A woman is like the grain of sand in the oyster, but you don't get a pearl every time.

"Women in the troupe would require more care and attention. They'd be at the studio two hours early for all the hair business. Since I get up at 5:30, I suppose they'd have to get up at 3:30. And by noon what would they be like?

"Oof!"

Since all major networks are devoting most of their program time during the next few days to the Republican National Convention at San Francisco, The Review has suspended publication of the TV log during the period because of its repetitious nature.

The regular TV listings will be resumed at the conclusion of the convention.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Many Common Plants Are Poisonous

Most parents are familiar with ivy poison and the skin discomfort it may cause them. Wisely, they learn to identify and keep away from this plant and so teach their children. Also, there are other poisonous plants among common ones, often in home gardens, or in vacant lots, whose leaves, flowers or fruits, when eaten by experimenting young children are very poisonous. Expose a young child to a pretty plant, flower or berry, especially if it's fragrant, and he may poke it into his mouth.

Dr. Garry Myers

The magazine Changing Times (which does not accept advertisements) givesn in its May, 1964, issue considerable information on such dangers. It points out that some of the prettiest, daintiest flowers and shrubs are deadly poisonous, tempting the child, even the adult, to nibble on them.

—:—

SUPPOSE children of school age play "tea party" with berries from a bittersweet vine. Suppose one or more of these children try to see how these berries taste. They contain alkaloids which have ill effect on the nervous system.

There's the common Jimson weed, or thorn apple, growing wild over most of the United States. With tempting nectar and attractive fruit containing deadly poison, Jimson weeds is perhaps, the most common child-poisoning plant.

And there's the castor oil plant often grown about homes for its large graceful leaves. Five beans from this plant have proved fatal in children. The attractive garden plant foxglove contains digitalis, a useful heart stimulant when used under a doctor's direction. But it's deadly poisonous in overdosage, so easy when a child nibbles on this plant.

Another poison that violently affects the heart is contained in the beautiful Christmas rose (Helleborus niger). And those delphiniums and larkspurs, which, when eaten, cause symptoms like aconite poisoning. Deaths or painful illness have occurred from eating too much larkspur.

DEADLY nightshade and lily of the valley are highly toxic, too. The berries on most of these plants are appealing to children.

I can remember when I found it tempting to open seeds (pits) of cherry, apple, plum, peach, and apricot and taste them, though I was warned that they were poisonous. They all contain prussic acid. Even the leaves of a peach tree contain some poisonous acid.

I remember that when, at the farm, we turned out cattle into the mountainous wood in the spring that some got very sick and a few died from eating, supposedly, mountain laurel and rhododendron. Their leaves, when eaten, also are poisonous to people, as, alas, are the leaves of oleander.

In many parts of the United States pokeweed leaves are often used for salad greens. The roots of this plant are highly poisonous. We enjoy rhubarb pie made from the stems of the plant, but all the leaf, which is poisonous, should be plucked off. The seeds of some types of morning glories contain a chemical used experimentally by psychiatrists to produce hallucinations.

IN CASE YOUR child or anybody else shows signs of having eaten a poisonous plant, call your doctor at once. He will tell you what to do while awaiting his arrival or before the patient reaches the hospital. Save a specimen of the suspected plant.

The foregoing suggest that we should strive early to prevent the child from putting plants or flowers or berries into his mouth, or from trying to find out what unfamiliar things taste like.

Some parents reading this may say, "When I was a kid I chewed and tasted all sorts of plants and the like and they never hurt me." Perhaps you didn't chew enough of them to damage you. Can we be sure all children not protected wisely will be so lucky?

My bulletin, "First Steps in Training Tot in Safety" may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

The Terrible-Tempered Captain

Joe Flynn, who plays the terrible - tempered Capt. Binghamton in ABC's unsinkable comedy series, "McHale's Navy," originally piped aboard as the sweet but fat-headed Ensign Charles Parker, who is played by Tom Conway.

Alan Gill

"I'd always had the Ensign Parker kind of role," said Flynn over lunch last week. (He had waded ashore onto Manhattan Island while en route between London and Hollywood.) "But then Tom had come along and was just right for it."

-:-

THE ONLY PART left to me was the captain. I went to MCA, which owns the studio and a good part of the known world. Since they were my agents, they knew my true age, which was 36 at the time, too young to be a four-stripe veteran officer. But it was the captain or nothing at that point.

"Ever since, everyone thinks I'm 85 years old. I'm only 37. If only I'd landed Tom's part, people wouldn't be helping me into cabs."

Joe Flynn's delineation of the role has changed, he said, "only a little."

-:-

"AT THE START, I felt I had to take advice from every angle, and I did. Now it's all settled down and I play it my own way and the directors don't have so many suggestions to offer.

"One director at the beginning said, 'Make it crisp.' Now in terms of a salad I know what that means. I changed my voice a little, hoping he thought I'd become more crisp, and it worked.

Is the captain's character, Flynn was asked, anything like his own?

"I'm afraid so," he said. "It's almost identical." And he hung his head in shame.

But is his mail friendly?

"Most of it comes from kids," he said, "and they've apparently got a father's image of me.

-:-

"THERE'S NO bad mail, because I always get my comeuppance in the end, falling off a cliff or something, and they've got to feel sorry for this old fool. Shucks, if I went around clapping men in irons, I'd get all kinds of stuff!

"My own kids, who are 3 and 5, seem vastly unimpressed with my work. They watch TV all day and night — 'I Love Lucy,' 'I Married Joan,' 'I Grabbed Gertie,' or whatever—and they don't bat an eye lash when I come along.

Flynn, with his sharp features and black-rimmed glasses, is recognized immediately wherever he sets foot in this country.

"But going to Europe," he complained, "is like stepping out of a nice warm shower.

-:-

"IN MOST of Europe, 'McHale's Navy' hasn't done too well. Most of TV there is government - owned and controlled and the governments do not take a light and funny attitude toward uniforms — though we're a big hit, strangely enough, in Spain.

"England signed us on for 13 weeks, but then canceled out after 11. It seems that, with the closing of the British Admiralty and the First Lord's becoming in effect their 'Undersecretary of Defense,' the English can't see much that's funny in a Navy show.

"I should think we'd do well in West Germany; they're so anti-uniform these days, you can't believe it. All the traffic policemen have is a whistle and a butcher's jacket — no badge or gun — though I feel there's a thing with gold buttons and epaulettes hanging in the closet at home, ready for use."

-:-

EVERYWHERE he went in Europe, however, "Ernie Borgnine was terribly well known—through 'Marty,' of course. That picture had great appeal everywhere and it still holds up."

As "McHale" heads into its third season, Joe Flynn insists the company is a close group.

"It's like being brother in a 35-member college fraternity. You've got to hate someone, somewhere along the way. But then you're singing songs and lighting candles and realizing you're all brothers again."

The absence of women has helped the cause of amity, he feels.

"A woman is like the grain of sand in the oyster, but you don't get a pearl every time.

"Women in the troupe would require more care and attention. They'd be at the studio two hours early for all the hair business. Since I get up at 5:30, I suppose they'd have to get up at 3:30. And by noon what would they be like?

"Oof!"

Since all major networks are devoting most of their program time during the next few days to the Republican National Convention at San Francisco, The Review has suspended publication of the TV log during the period because of its repetitious nature.

The regular TV listings will be resumed at the conclusion of the convention.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Many Common Plants Are Poisonous

Most parents are familiar with ivy poison and the skin discomfort it may cause them. Wisely, they learn to identify and keep away from this plant and so teach their children. Also, there are other poisonous plants among common ones, often in home gardens, or in vacant lots, whose leaves, flowers or fruits, when eaten by experimenting young children are very poisonous. Expose a young child to a pretty plant, flower or berry, especially if it's fragrant, and he may poke it into his mouth.

Dr. Garry Myers

The magazine Changing Times (which does not accept advertisements) givesn in its May, 1964, issue considerable information on such dangers. It points out that some of the prettiest, daintiest flowers and shrubs are deadly poisonous, tempting the child, even the adult, to nibble on them.

—:—

SUPPOSE children of school age play "tea party" with berries from a bittersweet vine. Suppose one or more of these children try to see how these berries taste. They contain alkaloids which have ill effect on the nervous system.

There's the common Jimson weed, or thorn apple, growing wild over most of the United States. With tempting nectar and attractive fruit containing deadly poison, Jimson weeds is perhaps, the most common child-poisoning plant.

And there's the castor oil plant often grown about homes for its large graceful leaves. Five beans from this plant have proved fatal in children. The attractive garden plant foxglove contains digitalis, a useful heart stimulant when used under a doctor's direction. But it's deadly poisonous in overdosage, so easy when a child nibbles on this plant.

Another poison that violently affects the heart is contained in the beautiful Christmas rose (Helleborus niger). And those delphiniums and larkspurs, which, when eaten, cause symptoms like aconite poisoning. Deaths or painful illness have occurred from eating too much larkspur.

DEADLY nightshade and lily of the valley are highly toxic, too. The berries on most of these plants are appealing to children.

I can remember when I found it tempting to open seeds (pits) of cherry, apple, plum, peach, and apricot and taste them, though I was warned that they were poisonous. They all contain prussic acid. Even the leaves of a peach tree contain some poisonous acid.

I remember that when, at the farm, we turned out cattle into the mountainous wood in the spring that some got very sick and a few died from eating, supposedly, mountain laurel and rhododendron. Their leaves, when eaten, also are poisonous to people, as, alas, are the leaves of oleander.

In many parts of the United States pokeweed leaves are often used for salad greens. The roots of this plant are highly poisonous. We enjoy rhubarb pie made from the stems of the plant, but all the leaf, which is poisonous, should be plucked off. The seeds of some types of morning glories contain a chemical used expermentally by psychiatrists to produce hallucinations.

IN CASE YOUR child or anybody else shows signs of having eaten a poisonous plant, call your doctor at once. He will tell you what to do while awaiting his arrival or before the patient reaches the hospital. Save a specimen of the suspected plant.

The foregoing suggest that we should strive early to prevent the child from putting plants or flowers or berries into his mouth, or from trying to find out what unfamiliar things taste like.

Some parents reading this may say, "When I was a kid I chewed and tasted all sorts of plants and the like and they never hurt me." Perhaps you didn't chew enough of them to damage you. Can we be sure all children not protected wisely will be so lucky?

My bulletin, "First Steps in Training Tot in Safety" may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Vote Planned On New Levy For Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A proposed 2-mill operating levy for the November general election was authorized by Council Monday night, along with proposed renewal of two 1-mill levies for streets and parks.

Council adopted a resolution to submit the 2-mill levy for a five-year period to obtain additional funds which the members said are required for municipal operations.

If approved by voters, it would be the first general municipal operating levy in the city's history. An operating levy proposed about 10 years ago was rejected.

The proposed levy would provide about $20,000 annually.

The 1-mill street levy and 1-mill park levy have been in effect for several years. They will be submitted for two-year periods.

Councilmen pointed out the need for revenue is exemplified by the general fund, which is currently overdrawn by $1,400. The expense of providing for the recently-annexed area in the north part of the city also was aired. However, regular revenue is anticipated soon through regular tax channels from that area.

A budget of $87,950 for 1965 was approved. The budget is about $8,000 higher than 1964.

Council tabled action on the proposed project to clean James St. Creek. The Pennsylvania Railroad has not yet responded to a request to increase the amount of money the utility would provide for the work.

Vote Planned On New Levy For Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A proposed 2-mill operating levy for the November general election was authorized by Council Monday night, along with proposed renewal of two 1-mill levies for streets and parks.

Council adopted a resolution to submit the 2-mill levy for a five-year period to obtain additional funds which the members said are required for municipal operations.

If approved by voters, it would be the first general municipal operating levy in the city's history. An operating levy proposed about 10 years ago was rejected.

The proposed levy would provide about $20,000 annually.

The 1-mill street levy and 1-mill park levy have been in effect for several years. They will be submitted for two-year periods.

Councilmen pointed out the need for revenue is exemplified by the general fund, which is currently overdrawn by $1,400. The expense of providing for the recently-annexed area in the north part of the city also was aired. However, regular revenue is anticipated soon through regular tax channels from that area.

A budget of $87,950 for 1965 was approved. The budget is about $8,000 higher than 1964.

Council tabled action on the proposed project to clean James St. Creek. The Pennsylvania Railroad has not yet responded to a request to increase the amount of money the utility would provide for the work.

Phils Nip Braves To Keep Pace; Bucs Drop Twinbill

Fox Fails To Hit With New Bat

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nellie Fox doesn't have much of an opinion on topless bathing suits, but you can tell he's not altogether crazy about two-piece bats.

Fox, the veteran Houston second baseman who drove in the winning run against National League - leading San Francisco Sunday night, went hitless as the Colts lost to the Giants 5-3 Monday night—just hours after the Great Bat-Breaking Incident of 1964 came to light.

Fox drove in the winning run for the Colts Sunday with a single in the ninth inning off Gaylord Perry, who stormed off the mound, picked up Fox' bat and smashed it against the Giants' dugout. Fox' bat came apart—so he had to use a new one Monday night.

"These new bats are soft," said Fox, "and it takes a while to get them into shape. Perry's action was darn bush."

"What Perry did," said Houston Manager Harry Craft, "was like going into your home and breaking your best set of dishes."

While Fox' new bat held no hits, Lou Brock's old one collected seven as the St. Louis Cardinals swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 5-4 in 12 innings and 12-5.

Brock, acquired by St. Louis in a trade with the Chicago Cubs, slammed a homer, double and single in the first game and came back with a homer, triple and two singles in the nightcap. He has hit at a .356 clip since joining St. Louis lifting his average to .285.

Elsewhere, Philadelphia remained one game back of the Giants by edging Milwaukee and Warren Spahn 3-2 and the Chicago Cubs belted the Los Angeles Dodgers 10-4.

Monday night's Houston-San Francisco game was not without incident as Craft was ejected for the second night in a row.

The latest hassle revolved around Umpire Tony Venzon's ruling that Colt shortstop Eddie Kasko had not touched second base on an attempted force out in the ninth inning. That left two Giants on base and led to the decisive runs. Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly brought in the tie-breaker before Jim Hart singled in an insurance run.

The victory went to O'Dell, who this time didn't get into an argument, got an opportunity to pitch and allowed only one hit in four innings of relief work.

At Pittsburgh, the Cardinals lashed 15 hits in the first game before finally winning on Julian Javier's run-scoring single in the 12th inning. Twenty hits and six Pittsburgh errors made the nightcap easier. Bill White hit a homer in each game for the Cardinals.

The Phillies, who had lost four straight to left-handers, snapped the string by beating Spahn as Richie Allen slammed a double and triple and scored two runs. Spahn's loss left him with a 6-9 record but he went the distance for the first time in 12 games.

The Cubs beat the Dodgers and Don Drysdale, 11-8 with a five-run uprising after two were out in the sixth inning. Andre Rodgers' three-run homer was the big blow. Larry Jackson got the victory, his 12th against six losses.

American Leaguers Hit 25 HR's

1 On Finley's Porch Downs Chicago, 8-7

By DICK COUCH

Home runs were flying over American League fences at a record clip but Al Lopez wasn't concerned—until one of them got lost on Charley Finley's pennant porch.

Then the White Sox pilot blew his top.

There were 25 homers hit in the AL Monday, four more than the previous mark for one league in a five-game schedule and one more than Lopez' count.

He's convinced that Wayne Causey's homer in the second game of a doubleheader, a three-run shot that led to an 8-7 Kansas City victory over the White Sox, was nothing more than a figment of Finley's runaway green-and-gold drawing board.

Chicago had taken the first game 8-6 and was leading 6-3 in the seventh inning of the nightcap when Causey's drive fell where a pole separates the shortened portion of Municipal Stadium from the high wall in center field.

The umpires ruled the ball had cleared the porch's low fence. Lopez contended it had hit the wall in center and was playable. Lopez lost the debate and was tossed out of the game when he resumed it an inning later.

Ron Hansen of the White Sox and the Athletics' Jim Gentile then matched eighth - inning homers before Causey's bases-loaded single in the ninth broke up the eight-homer slugfest.

The split cost Chicago a chance to gain 1½ games on league - leading Baltimore, which dropped a 10-inning 4-3 decision to Detroit. The New York Yankees, however, gained a game on the Orioles with a 10-4 rout of Cleveland. Boston blanked Washington 7-0 in the other game scheduled.

The Chicago-Kansas City twin bill produced 11 home runs. First game winner Gary Peters, 10-4, poked a three-run homer to pace the White Sox' 16-hit attack. George Alusik and Dick Green connected for the A's.

Peter Ward, Don Buford, Gene Stephens and Hansen homered for the Sox; Manny Jimenez, Ed Charles, Causey and Gentile for the A's in the nightcap. Green's single, a double by Ken Harrelson and an intentional pass set the stage for Causey's game-winning hit that snapped KC's six-game losing streak.

Jerry Lumpe's bases-loaded single in the 10th gave the Tigers their second straight one-run victory over Baltimore, which had won 21 of 23 one-run verdicts before Sunday.

Brooks Robinson's two-run ninth - inning homer sent the game into overtime after Don Demeter's solo shot in the second and two unearned runs in the sixth had given the Tigers a 3-1 bulge. Sam Bowens' homers accounted for the Orioles' first run.

The Yankees climbed to within 1½ games of Baltimore with their seventh straight victory over the Indians. Tom Tresh hit a pair of two-run homers—one from each side of the plate—and Mickey Mantle and Clete Boyer also homered, offsetting three Cleveland circuits.

Boston's Bill Monbouquette turned in the top pitching performance—a four-hit shutout—and the Red Sox twice struck for back-to-back homers. Dick Stuart and Lee Thomas connected in the five-run fourth inning and Felix Mantilla and Tony Conigliaro duplicated in the eighth.

Original Champ Is Disqualified

Putt Is Declared Winner In Jaycee Jr. Golf Event

Harold Putt of East Liverpool was declared the winner in the annual Junior Golf Tournament sponsored by the East Liverpool Jaycees Monday at the Country Club.

Putt became the winner when Denny Smith was disqualified for entering under an assumed name. Smith had defeated Putt by one stroke, 79-78, to win the senior division. His true identity was realized this morning and Tom Babb, chairman for the Jaycees, declared Putt the winner.

Smith had entered under the name of Walt Elliott. The Newell youth explained that he thought he was too late to sign up for the tourney. Elliott already had registered but did not play so Smith played under his name.

Babb said runnerup in the senior division would be declared later and that Putt and the runnerup would compete in the state Jaycee tournament at Youngstown July 27.

Putt fired a 49-39-79 as the official winning score. Smith had shot a 40-38-78. Smith was not over age for the tournament but was disqualified for using the assumed name.

The Junior Division title for boys 12 through 14 was won by John Finley of Chester. Finley won that division with a 45-43-88 while Marv Kinsey was runnerup with a 50-42-92.

The winner and runnerup in each division were presented trophies by Babb. A total of 40 youngsters were entered in the two divisions.

Hogan Among 165 In PGA At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The competitive desire is still there but the "feel" is gone, says Ben Hogan, making a comeback in the PGA Golf Championship at the age of 51.

"I am playing now largely on instinct," said the once-feared Texas hawk today. "It's all mechanical. If everything falls into place I might turn up with a fairly good score, but it would be lucky.

"The thing I miss most is feel for a course. You've got to have it to be a winner. You get it by practice and making a detailed study of the course. I'm not able to do it any more."

Hogan, playing in his first PGA in 11 years, will be one of 165 pros teeing off Thursday over the flat and relatively short Columbus Country Club course in the 46th professional championshlp.

The years seem to have taken little toll from the grim, strong-jawed onetime blacksmith's son who won four U.S. Opens, two Masters, two PGAs and the British Open to become one of the game's immortals.

He still walks the fairways with a majesty denied other men—stiff-legged from a near fatal auto accident, white cap pulled low over his eyes, his lips a firm line of determination and gripping an inevitable cigarette.

Close associates contend Hogan is hitting the ball as well as he ever did from tee to green but suffers from nerves on the putting greens.

"That's not entirely true," Hogan corrected. "Mechanically, I can still hit the ball and I still try to win, but there's a very important thing that's missing. That's the feel of the course and the inspiration. I don't have that."

Fox Fails To Hit With New Bat

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nellie Fox doesn't have much of an opinion on topless bathing suits, but you can tell he's not altogether crazy about two-piece bats.

Fox, the veteran Houston second baseman who drove in the winning run against National League - leading San Francisco Sunday night, went hitless as the Colts lost to the Giants 5-3 Monday night—just hours after the Great Bat-Breaking Incident of 1964 came to light.

Fox drove in the winning run for the Colts Sunday with a single in the ninth inning off Gaylord Perry, who stormed off the mound, picked up Fox' bat and smashed it against the Giants' dugout. Fox' bat came apart—so he had to use a new one Monday night.

"These new bats are soft," said Fox, "and it takes a while to get them into shape. Perry's action was darn bush."

"What Perry did," said Houston Manager Harry Craft, "was like going into your home and breaking your best set of dishes."

While Fox' new bat held no hits, Lou Brock's old one collected seven as the St. Louis Cardinals swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 5-4 in 12 innings and 12-5.

Brock, acquired by St. Louis in a trade with the Chicago Cubs, slammed a homer, double and single in the first game and came back with a homer, triple and two singles in the nightcap. He has hit at a .356 clip since joining St. Louis lifting his average to .285.

Elsewhere, Philadelphia remained one game back of the Giants by edging Milwaukee and Warren Spahn 3-2 and the Chicago Cubs belted the Los Angeles Dodgers 10-4.

Monday night's Houston-San Francisco game was not without incident as Craft was ejected for the second night in a row.

The latest hassle revolved around Umpire Tony Venzon's ruling that Colt shortstop Eddie Kasko had not touched second base on an attempted force out in the ninth inning. That left two Giants on base and led to the decisive runs. Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly brought in the tie-breaker before Jim Hart singled in an insurance run.

The victory went to O'Dell, who this time didn't get into an argument, got an opportunity to pitch and allowed only one hit in four innings of relief work.

At Pittsburgh, the Cardinals lashed 15 hits in the first game before finally winning on Julian Javier's run-scoring single in the 12th inning. Twenty hits and six Pittsburgh errors made the nightcap easier. Bill White hit a homer in each game for the Cardinals.

The Phillies, who had lost four straight to left-handers, snapped the string by beating Spahn as Richie Allen slammed a double and triple and scored two runs. Spahn's loss left him with a 6-9 record but he went the distance for the first time in 12 games.

The Cubs beat the Dodgers and Don Drysdale, 11-8 with a five-run uprising after two were out in the sixth inning. Andre Rodgers' three-run homer was the big blow. Larry Jackson got the victory, his 12th against six losses.

American Leaguers Hit 25 HR's

1 On Finley's Porch Downs Chicago, 8-7

By DICK COUCH

Home runs were flying over American League fences at a record clip but Al Lopez wasn't concerned—until one of them got lost on Charley Finley's pennant porch.

Then the White Sox pilot blew his top.

There were 25 homers hit in the AL Monday, four more than the previous mark for one league in a five-game schedule and one more than Lopez' count.

He's convinced that Wayne Causey's homer in the second game of a doubleheader, a three-run shot that led to an 8-7 Kansas City victory over the White Sox, was nothing more than a figment of Finley's runaway green-and-gold drawing board.

Chicago had taken the first game 8-6 and was leading 6-3 in the seventh inning of the nightcap when Causey's drive fell where a pole separates the shortened portion of Municipal Stadium from the high wall in center field.

The umpires ruled the ball had cleared the porch's low fence. Lopez contended it had hit the wall in center and was playable. Lopez lost the debate and was tossed out of the game when he resumed it an inning later.

Ron Hansen of the White Sox and the Athletics' Jim Gentile then matched eighth - inning homers before Causey's bases-loaded single in the ninth broke up the eight-homer slugfest.

The split cost Chicago a chance to gain 1½ games on league - leading Baltimore, which dropped a 10-inning 4-3 decision to Detroit. The New York Yankees, however, gained a game on the Orioles with a 10-4 rout of Cleveland. Boston blanked Washington 7-0 in the other game scheduled.

The Chicago-Kansas City twin bill produced 11 home runs. First game winner Gary Peters, 10-4, poked a three-run homer to pace the White Sox' 16-hit attack. George Alusik and Dick Green connected for the A's.

Peter Ward, Don Buford, Gene Stephens and Hansen homered for the Sox; Manny Jimenez, Ed Charles, Causey and Gentile for the A's in the nightcap. Green's single, a double by Ken Harrelson and an intentional pass set the stage for Causey's game-winning hit that snapped KC's six-game losing streak.

Jerry Lumpe's bases-loaded single in the 10th gave the Tigers their second straight one-run victory over Baltimore, which had won 21 of 23 one-run verdicts before Sunday.

Brooks Robinson's two-run ninth - inning homer sent the game into overtime after Don Demeter's solo shot in the second and two unearned runs in the sixth had given the Tigers a 3-1 bulge. Sam Bowens' homers accounted for the Orioles' first run.

The Yankees climbed to within 1½ games of Baltimore with their seventh straight victory over the Indians. Tom Tresh hit a pair of two-run homers—one from each side of the plate—and Mickey Mantle and Clete Boyer also homered, offsetting three Cleveland circuits.

Boston's Bill Monbouquette turned in the top pitching performance—a four-hit shutout—and the Red Sox twice struck for back-to-back homers. Dick Stuart and Lee Thomas connected in the five-run fourth inning and Felix Mantilla and Tony Conigliaro duplicated in the eighth.

Putt Is Declared Winner In Jaycee Jr. Golf Event

Harold Putt of East Liverpool was declared the winner in the annual Junior Golf Tournament sponsored by the East Liverpool Jaycees Monday at the Country Club.

Putt became the winner when Denny Smith was disqualified for entering under an assumed name. Smith had defeated Putt by one stroke, 79-78, to win the senior division. His true identity was realized this morning and Tom Babb, chairman for the Jaycees, declared Putt the winner.

Smith had entered under the name of Walt Elliott. The Newell youth explained that he thought he was too late to sign up for the tourney. Elliott already had registered but did not play so Smith played under his name.

Babb said runnerup in the senior division would be declared later and that Putt and the runnerup would compete in the state Jaycee tournament at Youngstown July 27.

Putt fired a 49-39-79 as the official winning score. Smith had shot a 40-38-78. Smith was not over age for the tournament but was disqualified for using the assumed name.

The Junior Division title for boys 12 through 14 was won by John Finley of Chester. Finley won that division with a 45-43-88 while Marv Kinsey was runnerup with a 50-42-92.

The winner and runnerup in each division were presented trophies by Babb. A total of 40 youngsters were entered in the two divisions.

In Baseball's Zany World

Nats, Chisox Trade, Power Spits At Umpire And Perry Breaks Bat

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox owe Washington a player. Vic Power owes the American League $250. And Gaylord Perry owes the Houston Colts $3.98.

Such was the situation today in baseball's zany world after a hectic Monday that produced these developments:

—The Senators and White Sox completed a trade one month after the trading deadline with first baseman Bill (Moose) Skowron and pitcher Carl Bouldin going to Chicago in exchange for first baseman Joe Cunningham and a player to be named later.

—The American League denied a hearing to Vic Power of the Los Angeles Angels, who has been fined $250 and suspended for 10 days for allegedly spitting in an umpire's face.

—The National League acknowledged it had received a protest from the Colts because Perry, a San Francisco relief pitcher, broke one of Nellie Fox' bats. The Colts also said Perry was being billed for the cost of the bat.

The Senators-White Sox deal was called a double waiver transaction because they could not call it anyting else.

Under baseball law, player deals made after June 15 must be via the waiver route with a waiver price of $20,000 attached to each piece of merchandise.

Now, the White Sox will waive another player to the Senators in a week or 10 days to complete the transaction.

Power's actions in the first game of a doubleheader last Friday night against Chicago were reported to AL headquarters by Umpire Jim Honochick, who said Power "bumped me three times and spit in my face deliberately and willfully."

Power said he hadn't.

The American League, which never announces refusals to grant hearings, said through league publicist Joe McKenney:

"We refused a hearing. We felt that under the league constitution we did not have to grant a hearing and so we did not do so."

The Perry-Fox development was the latest to be brought out after Sunday's game at Houston in which San Francisco reliever Billy O'Dell was thrown out for arguing even before he had made one pitch and Perry sat down on the mound to change his shoes after getting a hurry-up call to replace O'Dell.

Fox, who previously had singled in the tying run for the Colts, drove in the winning run with a single in the ninth inning. Perry, in a rage, stormed off the mound, picked up Fox' bat and smashed it against the side of the Giants' dugout.

In Baseball's Zany World

Nats, Chisox Trade, Power Spits At Umpire And Perry Breaks Bat

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox owe Washington a player. Vic Power owes the American League $250. And Gaylord Perry owes the Houston Colts $3.98.

Such was the situation today in baseball's zany world after a hectic Monday that produced these developments:

—The Senators and White Sox completed a trade one month after the trading deadline with first baseman Bill (Moose) Skowron and pitcher Carl Bouldin going to Chicago in exchange for first baseman Joe Cunningham and a player to be named later.

—The American League denied a hearing to Vic Power of the Los Angeles Angels, who has been fined $250 and suspended for 10 days for allegedly spitting in an umpire's face.

—The National League acknowledged it had received a protest from the Colts because Perry, a San Francisco relief pitcher, broke one of Nellie Fox' bats. The Colts also said Perry was being billed for the cost of the bat.

The Senators-White Sox deal was called a double waiver transaction because they could not call it anyting else.

Under baseball law, player deals made after June 15 must be via the waiver route with a waiver price of $20,000 attached to each piece of merchandise.

Now, the White Sox will waive another player to the Senators in a week or 10 days to complete the transaction.

Power's actions in the first game of a doubleheader last Friday night against Chicago were reported to AL headquarters by Umpire Jim Honochick, who said Power "bumped me three times and spit in my face deliberately and willfully."

Power said he hadn't.

The American League, which never announces refusals to grant hearings, said through league publicist Joe McKenney: "We refused a hearing. We felt that under the league constitution we did not have to grant a hearing and so we did not do so."

The Perry-Fox development was the latest to be brought out after Sunday's game at Houston in which San Francisco reliever Billy O'Dell was thrown out for arguing even before he had made one pitch and Perry sat down on the mound to change his shoes after getting a hurry-up call to replace O'Dell.

Fox, who previously had singled in the tying run for the Colts, drove in the winning run with a single in the ninth inning. Perry, in a rage, stormed off the mound, picked up Fox' bat and smashed it against the side of the Giants' dugout.

Junior Editors Quiz on Bolivia

QUESTION: Why does Bolivia have two capitals?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The country now called Bolivia was very important to the Spaniards who had conquered South America, for silver had been discovered there. They called this part of the continent Upper Peru. In 1824, the famous liberator, Simon Bolivar, with a great army, fought successfully against Spain. He helped the people of Upper Peru to establish an independent country, which they, in gratitude, called Bolivia. One of Bolivar's generals, Antonia Jose de Suce, was elected as Bolivia's first president, and his name was given to the city which was the seat of the government and which had originally been established by the Spaniards as a center for the export of silver and for trading. Another city had been founded by the Spaniards in 1548, La Ciudad de Nuestra enora de La Paz, or The City of Our Lady of Peace. After throwing off the Spaniards, Bolivians called this city La Paz. It was better situated than Sucre to be the seat of the government because transportation facilities centered there and it grew to be the focus of Bolivia's life. So, in 1898, all government offices except the Supreme Court were moved to La Paz, which became the actual capital, although Sucre remained as the official, or legal, capital.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a library book about Bolivia and read about its interesting things, such as Lake Titicaca, which is 12,507 feet above sea level — higher than any large lake in the world.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, July 14, the 196th day of 1964. There are 170 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1853, Commodore Matthew C. Perry went ashore at Tokyo with 300 bluejackets and officers to present a letter from President Millard Fillmore to the emperor of Japan; the opening up of Japan to trade the next year was assured.

On this date:

In 1789, the Bastille was stormed and captured, beginning the French Revolution.

In 1918, the son of former President Theodore Roosevelt, Lt. Quentin Roosevelt, was killed in aerial combat and buried with military honors by the Germans.

In 1942, Gen. Mark Clark was appointed commander of American ground forces in Britain.

Ten years ago—The only model of a new British crescent-winged jet, the Handley Page Victor, crashed in England, killing the four men aboard.

Five years ago—Minnesota's Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Gov. Orville Freeman announced the candidacy of Sen. Hubert Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination.

One year ago—U.S. and British representatives arrived in Moscow for talks with Russia on a nuclear test-ban treaty.

Since the $5,761 million restoration of the White House in 1952, it has five elevators, complete air-conditioning, a utility sub-basement which includes a laundry, barber shop and dentist's office, and there is an $868,000 bomb shelter. The White House now contains some 30,000 items of furniture, glassware, chinaware, and linens. The real estate value of the house and its 18 acres is estimated at about $25 million.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Do you know of any place I can go to get my voice changed? Somehow I managed to raise five children with this voice and it didn't seem to have a bad effect on them. Now, however, I'm told that my harsh voice scares my grandchildren to death and that I'd better do something about it.

I'm 64 years old and feel that a person is never too old to learn. My husband says you can't teach an old horse new tricks, and that my voice has been good enough for him these past 35 years — and to leave it alone.

What do you say? — FRIGHTENER OF LITTLE CHILDREN.

Dear Frightener: People are not horses — they can and do learn at all ages, but I'm not going to send a 64-year-old woman to speech school to please her daughter (in-law, I'll bet!).

Turn Of The Wheel

Dear Ann: Elwood and I have been married eight years. We have had our share of minor squabbles but I can truthfully say we've never had any serious trouble — until last week. For my 30th birthday he bought me a little car and is teaching me to drive.

I was smart enough to give him three fine children but suddenly I'm the dumbest, most uncoordinated person who ever lived. He says my reflexes are so slow it's a miracle I'm alive. The list of insults he has handed out since he's been trying to teach me to drive would take up your whole column.

Can it be that I am not doing very well because my husband is a poor teacher, has high blood pressure and no patience? Will you please comment? — FENDER BENDER.

-:-

Dear Bender: Even a husband who has an abundance of patience (and low blood pressure) should not attempt to teach his wife to drive.

Relieve him of this nerve-shredding job and take instructions from someone with whom you are not emotionally involved.

White Wedding

Dear Ann Landers: Our 22-year-old daughter wants a formal all-white wedding. My husband and I would like to please her but I'm afraid we would be laughed right out of this town if we give this girl her way.

First: Mary Elizabeth went steady with a young man for three years. They were together night and day and I do mean night and day. He married someone else. I know very well that when Mary Elizabeth went with this young man they did things that would make her ineligible for a white wedding.

Second: The man Mary Elizabeth is marrying has been married before. In fact, he has a child by that marriage. Now—wouldn't she look ridiculous coming down the aisle all in white under the conditions described? — SENSIBLE PARENTS.

-:-

Dear Parents: If Mary Elizabeth wants a white wedding, let her have it. Girls who have gone steady (I get what you mean) do not forfeit the privilege of a white wedding.

The bridegroom's previous marital record does not matter either. It's the status of the bride that counts — and nothing else.

TO FRIENDLESS: I'm not surprised — four typewritten pages of scathing criticism against the world in general and your four "dearest friends" in particular. Why do you demand perfection in others? Are you able to deliver it yourself? The only way to have a friend is to be one. And in this way you have failed.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Do your house plants look rather sick? Are you really proud to show them to your friends?

Here's what I do:

I sift out the cigarette ashes from the ash trays and put them in my plants. This is wonderful.

My plants have never looked as good as they do now. I keep the excess ashes in an old can with a piece of screen on top for sifting them before putting them on the soil in the plants.

Miss S. Y.

I'm amazed that you write about this. The only time I have seen it done was in China when we lived there. You are right about cigarette ashes. I don't know what it does but the plants are beautiful.

I also know from living in China and Japan that if you put RUSTY nails (NOT galvanized) in your plants that they will be beautiful. Just push a few nails down in the dirt and leave the top or head of the nail sticking out above the soil so it will rust more then watch your plants!

They also put cracked egg shells in their soil. It works!

Save your egg shells, gals —crush them and mix them with your soil when you repot your plants. Throw them in your flower beds, too! Then when you till the soil . . . they will get mixed in it.

And have you ever heard of tea leaves? They are wonderful for ferns. Never throw away tea leaves. If you use tea bags, open the bag and put the leaves in a fruit jar. Pour water over this. Let sit one day . . . then pour the water and tea leaves all over your plants.

The Chinese always do this. I guess it will work on any plants, but in Peking this is one of the rituals for ferns.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: The idea came to me to use your nylon net as a washcloth. I have an oily skin and blemishes have been quite a problem to me.

A complexion brush always seemed to stay damp and I felt that bacteria was just swarming in it. The nylon net washcloth on the other hand, is always fresh.

My skin has improved a great deal since I started using the net. It may be too rough for some people but for me it is just right if I don't scrub too hard.

NANCY WHITE.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: I remove rust stains from my linoleum by sponging it with turpentine. If the spots prove obstinate I dip the cloth in some powdered cleanser.

E. M.

DEAR HELOISE: It is common knowledge that hot water is used in the process of dying clothing.

So why won't hot water set the dirt in clothes?

When doing my laundry I always use cold water and here's how:

I put eight cups of my favorite washing powder in a one-gallon jar and fill it with warm water and allow ample time for it to dissolve.

I add my homemade liquid detergent to my cold wash water and get white things whiter than I did when I used hot water and my powdered detergent.

BEEKMAN POPE.

-:-

Now, for those of us who have our favorite detergents, why not try this? This precious gal can use any brand she wants

And because my Grandmother always boiled clothes to get them clean I always thought it was necessary to have hot water. But on some fabrics today it just doesn't seem to be so, does it?

HELOISE.

Work Halted On Installing Water Main

Approximately two - thirds of the installation of an 8-inch main from Grant St. and St. Clair Ave. to Dresden Ave. and E. 9th St. has been completed, but the remainder of the work will be delayed until the water department can complete some other work, Donald T. Duke, superintendent, said today.

Duke said approximately 750 feet of pipe has been installed from Grant St. to St. John St., but the completion will be delayed until the Grant St. paving can be replaced and some other work can be finished.

The other jobs include installation of a 6-inch main to tie in a dead end on Inez Ave. with St. Clair Ave. The 150 feet of pipe, which will cross St. Clair Ave., must be installed before Herman Brothers, Inc., of Youngstown, general contractor, starts the St. Clair improvement project, Duke said. The line work started Saturday, he said.

The department also is beginning the summer repair of the low service reservoir on Thompson Ave. Walls of the reservoir will be caulked with a sand and cement mixture fired into the walls under pressure, Duke explained.

The 8-inch transmission main from St. Clair to Dresden Ave. will feed into another 8-inch main to increase the volume of water supply for the West End area, the superintendent said. A 4-inch line now feeds the 8-inch line, he explained.

Only one-way traffic has been permitted on Grant St. because of the work, Duke said, explaining many North Side motorists use Grant St. as a short cut to the West End and Wellsville.

Coroner To Examine Body Found In Field

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cuyahoga County coroner's office planned to examine today the badly decomposed body of a man found in a field in Beachwood.

Police said the body discovered Monday night by two boys riding their bicycles was covered with two pieces of plywood as if someone had attempted to hide it. There were no marks of violence on the body.

Two Injured In Collision Of 2 Trains

EATON, Ohio (AP) — A 10 year-old witness said two New York Central freight trains "bounced up and down like a ball" when they collided head-on at Lewisburg Monday afternoon.

Bryon Osswald was only 300 feet away from the shattering collision that injured two men and caused damages around $400,000.

R. N. Taylor, 43, engineer, and L. H. Mosier, 40, fireman, both of Van Wert, escaped serious injury when they jumped from their southbound freight of 18 cars.

Mosier said he told Taylor: "Throw the emergency and get off."

Taylor suffered scratches. The other injured man was H. C. Fleming of Van Wert, fireman on the 35-car northbound train. He suffered a broken leg and was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital, Dayton.

According to witnesses, both trains sounded their whistles and appeared to be applying their brakes. Two cars on each train were derailed. One of two engines on the northbound train and the southbound engine also jumped the tracks.

About 150 yards of track was torn up.

NYC officials said the northbound train was ahead of schedule. It left Carlisle Junction near Middletown early, officials said. The southbound train was to stop and switch cars in Lewisburg, 10 miles northeast of Eaton.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Do you know of any place I can go to get my voice changed? Somehow I managed to raise five children with this voice and it didn't seem to have a bad effect on them. Now, however, I'm told that my harsh voice scares my grandchildren to death and that I'd better do something about it.

I'm 64 years old and feel that a person is never too old to learn. My husband says you can't teach an old horse new tricks, and that my voice has been good enough for him these past 35 years — and to leave it alone.

What do you say? — FRIGHTENER OF LITTLE CHILDREN.

Dear Frightener: People are not horses — they can and do learn at all ages, but I'm not going to send a 64-year-old woman to speech school to please her daughter (in-law, I'll bet!).

Turn Of The Wheel

Dear Ann: Elwood and I have been married eight years. We have had our share of minor squabbles but I can truthfully say we've never had any serious trouble — until last week. For my 30th birthday he bought me a little car and is teaching me to drive.

I was smart enough to give him three fine children but suddenly I'm the dumbest, most uncoordinated person who ever lived. He says my reflexes are so slow it's a miracle I'm alive. The list of insults he has handed out since he's been trying to teach me to drive would take up your whole column.

Can it be that I am not doing very well because my husband is a poor teacher, has high blood pressure and no patience? Will you please comment? — FENDER BENDER.

Dear Bender: Even a husband who has an abundance of patience (and low blood pressure) should not attempt to teach his wife to drive.

Relieve him of this nerve-shredding job and take instructions from someone with whom you are not emotionally involved.

White Wedding

Dear Ann Landers: Our 22-year-old daughter wants a formal all-white wedding. My husband and I would like to please her but I'm afraid we would be laughed right out of this town if we give this girl her way.

First: Mary Elizabeth went steady with a young man for three years. They were together night and day and I do mean night and day. He married someone else. I know very well that when Mary Elizabeth went with this young man they did things that would make her ineligible for a white wedding.

Second: The man Mary Elizabeth is marrying has been married before. In fact, he has a child by that marriage. Now—wouldn't she look ridiculous coming down the aisle all in white under the conditions described? — SENSIBLE PARENTS.

-:-

Dear Parents: If Mary Elizabeth wants a white wedding, let her have it. Girls who have gone steady (I get what you mean) do not forfeit the privilege of a white wedding.

The bridegroom's previous marital record does not matter either. It's the status of the bride that counts — and nothing else.

TO FRIENDLESS: I'm not surprised — four typewritten pages of scathing criticism against the world in general and your four "dearest friends" in particular. Why do you demand perfection in others? Are you able to deliver it yourself? The only way to have a friend is to be one. And in this way you have failed.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Work Halted On Installing Water Main

Approximately two - thirds of the installation of an 8-inch main from Grant St. and St. Clair Ave. to Dresden Ave. and E. 9th St. has been completed, but the remainder of the work will be delayed until the water department can complete some other work, Donald T. Duke, superintendent, said today.

Duke said approximately 750 feet of pipe has been installed from Grant St. to St. John St., but the completion will be delayed until the Grant St. paving can be replaced and some other work can be finished.

The other jobs include installation of a 6-inch main to tie in a dead end on Inez Ave. with St. Clair Ave. The 150 feet of pipe, which will cross St. Clair Ave., must be installed before Herman Brothers, Inc., of Youngstown, general contractor, starts the St. Clair improvement project, Duke said. The line work started Saturday, he said.

The department also is beginning the summer repair of the low service reservoir on Thompson Ave. Walls of the reservoir will be caulked with a sand and cement mixture fired into the walls under pressure, Duke explained.

The 8-inch transmission main from St. Clair to Dresden Ave. will feed into another 8-inch main to increase the volume of water supply for the West End area, the superintendent said. A 4-inch line now feeds the 8-inch line, he explained.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Do your house plants look rather sick? Are you really proud to show them to your friends?

Here's what I do:

I sift out the cigarette ashes from the ash trays and put them in my plants. This is wonderful.

My plants have never looked as good as they do now. I keep the excess ashes in an old can with a piece of screen on top for sifting them before putting them on the soil in the plants.

Miss S. Y.

I'm amazed that you write about this. The only time I have seen it done was in China when we lived there. You are right about cigarette ashes. I don't know what it does but the plants are beautiful.

I also know from living in China and Japan that if you put RUSTY nails (NOT galvanized) in your plants that they will be beautiful. Just push a few nails down in the dirt and leave the top or head of the nail sticking out above the soil so it will rust more then watch your plants!

They also put cracked egg shells in their soil. It works!

Save your egg shells, gals —crush them and mix them with your soil when you repot your plants. Throw them in your flower beds, too! Then when you till the soil . . . they will get mixed in it.

And have you ever heard of tea leaves? They are wonderful for ferns. Never throw away tea leaves. If you use tea bags, open the bag and put the leaves in a fruit jar. Pour water over this. Let sit one day . . . then pour the water and tea leaves all over your plants.

The Chinese always do this. I guess it will work on any plants, but in Peking this is one of the rituals for ferns.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: The idea came to me to use your nylon net as a washcloth. I have an oily skin and blemishes have been quite a problem to me.

A complexion brush always seemed to stay damp and I felt that bacteria was just swarming in it. The nylon net washcloth on the other hand, is always fresh.

My skin has improved a great deal since I started using the net. It may be too rough for some people but for me it is just right if I don't scrub too hard.

NANCY WHITE.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: I remove rust stains from my linoleum by sponging it with turpentine. If the spots prove obstinate I dip the cloth in some powdered cleanser.

E. M.

DEAR HELOISE: It is common knowledge that hot water is used in the process of dying clothing.

So why won't hot water set the dirt in clothes?

When doing my laundry I always use cold water and here's how:

I put eight cups of my favorite washing powder in a one-gallon jar and fill it with warm water and allow ample time for it to dissolve.

I add my homemade liquid detergent to my cold wash water and get white things whiter than I did when I used hot water and my powdered detergent.

BEEKMAN POPE.

-:-

Now, for those of us who have our favorite detergents, why not try this? This precious gal can use any brand she wants

And because my Grandmother always boiled clothes to get them clean I always thought it was necessary to have hot water. But on some fabrics today it just doesn't seem to be so, does it?

HELOISE.
